the ladder is down again..... it comes up for a day and goes down for a week. whats going on. i noticed Crimson said in the last topic i posted that black hand studios is in the process of making a ladder with renguard network or something like that. is that why the ladder is down right now? the old ladder was based of how much u could point whore in the biggest game u could find. is the new ladder going to be that same? also i noticed Crimson said it will have less "exploits" what do u mean? like ppl being able to alter there rank?

We're still trying to figure out how to get the ladder results without the potential of tampering. We have no effect on the WOL ladder.
