This is an primaraly english board. As in American and Euro / Canadians. As in 3/4's of us have no fucking clue what those say because they are in some other language, as in you probebly coudln't find much support here as in we don't know what the hell it says.

Yes.

This is actually good, you just need to learn some French.

My only 2 problems, were finding the way back to the chatroom and learning how to close a screen.

I think it's an interesting thing you did.You really did making something unique.

Why did you make this, a school project? My reason for interest is, I'm an ICT student, at the current moment I have the choice of specialing my self either to Web Technology, or to Simulation and Games Technology. I already have chose Simulation and game technology. But I also like to see the other side.

Edit: ok found my way back.

Could you edit that post to say something slightly dumber and out of context.
J'aussi prefere l'Anglais. Si vous avez une probleme avec la Francais, Il faut que vous mangez des merde.

C'etait une bonne page.

(There are probably mistakes in there - My french isn't great.)

Having cowmisfit around is real hell.

The moderators don't exactly do much, at least according to me, they all have things to do with BHS.
