
Subject: Hurricane Ivan devastation photography
Posted by Aircraftkiller on Fri, 28 Jan 2005 09:52:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I know it's a few months late, but I just got around to putting up the rest of the photographs I took that were worth showing off. Quite a bit of them were just finding random areas of destruction and seeing what would come out best.

<http://aircraftkiller.deviantart.com/>

It's all located there. If you also missed the lunar eclipse from late October, you'll find the photographs I took through my 120mm telescope there too.

Subject: Hurricane Ivan devastation photography
Posted by Blazea58 on Fri, 28 Jan 2005 12:24:43 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Some alright pictures there, to bad there is only 5 of the Ivan pics that you got.

But i just had to keep looking, and i found this. What the hell did you model it with lol , it looks like a cartoon (unless it was intended to be)
<http://www.deviantart.com/view/12341195/>

Just caught my eye right when i saw it lol.

Subject: Hurricane Ivan devastation photography
Posted by GetSm0keD on Fri, 28 Jan 2005 14:16:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

hurricane frances and jeanee survivor..

i got a ton of pix.. cause the power was out all week and there wasnt anything else to do but drive around in the hurricane hahah sum are durrin sum are after..

same gas station just after the storm & more trees down lol

and this is WHY.. u dont drive at night IN the hurricane lol

iight tired of hostin pix enjoy! lol

Subject: Hurricane Ivan devastation photography
Posted by Jaspah on Fri, 28 Jan 2005 21:49:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Looks like plastic, and the texture could use some work.
