Does the installer still corrupt Windows installation thus requiring a complete reinstallation of the OS?

No one does unless they've got shit for brains. Answer the question, do you have competent people that know how to put together an installation program or are you going to let several people have to reformat their data just to play something?

They're not "noobs at computers" (n00bs has two zeros, not two o's!) because your shitty installation program forced them to reformat their hard drives. Somehow, you managed to write an installation program so ill-conceived; so utterly, terribly written that certain computers started vomiting when they attempted to run it. Different computers have different configurations, and your installation program completely (for lack of a better term) assfucked certain configurations. This is in no way their fault. It is Reborn's fault and only Reborn's fault.

No.

That word is right up there with "Wazz-up?!?!", "You are the weakest link.", "Is that your final answer?" and of course "You cant handle the truth!".

Just really, really tired of it.

EDIT: oh and "deez-nuts"

EDIT2: I should of said "In my opinion" due to the general acceptance in the community.

You're one to talk, Retarded6.

Your crappy-ass mod is responsible for wipping out entire harddrives of thousands of dollars of software; it's as bad as a computer virus, if not worse. That's destruction of property, and legal action should be taken against you people for putting up this virus for download without so much as a warning that certain configurations of certain operating systems may react negatively to the download and force the user to completely reinstall the entire system.

Try to think. I am not responsible for the stuff I don't put online. Do you like to show how stupid you can be ? It seems. The file on our ftp server is 100 % clean. If you get the mod somewhere else on a crappy bad protected server it's YOUR problem, not mine.

And again, the guy who compiled the old beta isn't part of the team anymore, we don't even know who did it and don't want to know. Try to find him and plz find a proof of what you say. ( I managed to run the old beta without any problems on win98, winme, winxp... no virus, no problems, I READ the instructions and played the mod. As I said before, download reborn by our safe links and u won't have problems and if you think it's a crappy-ass mod, don't bother post here or download it, you 'tard. )

Anything you could answer to this to defend your point of view will be retarded, I hope you see it, if not, then read that post again.

( oh I forgot one funny point : legal pursuit for a bad beta against me? How ? I didn't make the old beta... duuuuuuuuuuuuh! Make me laugh more 'tard )

j_ball430I don't see any disclaimer on their site. They could EASILY be in trouble.

Sure, we live in europe. We don't need some tips like "don't put the baby in the microwave..." like most of you do... and again, read text above.

I am amazed how it's easy to show you how you can be wrong. How old are most of you ? Do you go at university or something like that ? The funny point is how you persist in your wrong point of view like stupid assholes.

English is not my first language, but I understand very well how gay you can all be.

Renardin, you don't think things through. Whether or not you were a part of the old team doesn't fucking matter. The fact is, it's still the C&C Reborn team that is responsible for it. I could be a new CEO of a company, and then that company that I work for gets slammed with a lawsuit for something that the previous CEO was a part of, I'M STILL A PART OF THE LAW SUIT. While attacking you individually won't hold up, attacking the entity as a whole will hold up. Just taking 2 minutes to think things through WILL save you from humiliation.

You ALWAYS need a disclaimer. We as gamers/consumers/etc... are expecting and trusting that what we buy/download is completely safe, unless, of course, there is a disclaimer stating that there COULD be a possibility of error with the installation. It's always just easy and safer to have "we are not responsible for any problems caused by the installer or the modification itself. You are downloading the modification at your own risk." Do you see how easy that was? I typed that in 20 seconds. That would have saved you (Reborn old AND new) a lot of trouble.

Stop with the fucking rhetoric. It only proves you to be an immature little prick. Attack the points, not the people. Can you seriously be that stupid to think that by insulting me, you're somehow outsmarting me? Yes, I know this point also contains some rhetoric, but yet, I still seem to be managing to make a point.

Also, since rhetoric is how you want to go about with the argument, rhetoric is what you'll get.

You are blind as a fucking bat. You only believe what your little fucktard buddies say. Guess what? THEY'RE USUALLY WRONG. Why are they wrong? Because they're fucking idiots. Not unlike yourself, Retarded6. I could go on, but you're little brain couldn't handle all the common sense. Then again, don't feel bad, most people are like that.

Because we disagree with you and actually give valid AND proven points, that automatically makes us wrong and stupid "assholes"? You're sadly mistaken, dolt. You can't seem to make a point without using some form of rhetoric. I refrained from using it before, but you're so fucking dense that insults are the only thing that will get through to you.

You "understand" very well how "gay" we can all be? What the hell is that supposed to mean? How the fuck can you understand it? Are you a homosexual yourself? You seem to be very keen on other people's sexual orientation, is that supposed to be some indication that you're a little off yourself?

Reborn isnt a company. Going by your logic, you can sue the guy accross the road for robbing your house, when the real criminal is probably in another town or country. The new team didnt make the installer, or the old mod, so there is nothing legal in the world you can do to them.

It doesn't have to be a company to accept liability for its work. Any legal action can be taken against it - to clarify, if EA wanted to shut down Reborn (Which they should, it makes more of a mockery of C&C than Generals and RA2 do combined), they could do it because you face accountability to them if they initiate a lawsuit.

If someone here sued the Reborn team on behalf of the people who would join to recieve compensation for loss of data or damage to their computer, you would be accountable.

Believe it.

Oh yeah, and another thing that I found to be interesting:

The current Reborn team still is offering the mod with the fucked up installer for download. Whether or not they compiled the installer in the first place, they're still keeping it up for download knowing damn well that it has caused problems in the past for more than just one or two people. The funny thing is that they're completely responsible for what's on their site and what they provide to the public. They have yet to put a disclaimer on it to help them not be blamed for any problems caused by the installer. THAT makes them directly responsible.

Quote:Woman faces charges for deleting ex-boyfriend's online game data

FUKUSHIMA -- A woman in her 30s who illegally used her boyfriend's online username and password to access an Internet game and delete his game data faces charges, police said.

Police reported the woman, of Takaoka, Toyama Prefecture, to the Fukushima District Public

Prosecutors Office accusing her of violating a law banning illegal access. She has apparently admitted to the allegations against her.

"I did it as revenge for breaking up with me," police quoted her as saying.

The man, who is in his 20s, did not suffer financially because of the woman's actions, but she deleted items such as weapons and clothes that he had spent time collecting in the game.

Investigators said the woman accessed the online role-playing game "Lineage" using the man's username and password in about April last year.

"Lineage" is an adventure game in which players fight enemies with characters such as knights and magicians. Players can type messages to each other while they are playing the game, and can have their characters team up.

The woman and the man reportedly met each other through the game in the autumn of 2003, and started a relationship, actually meeting each other, but they soon broke up, police said.

"Lineage" is operated by a company in the Tokyo Metropolitan area. (Mainichi Shimbun, Japan, Jan. 20, 2005)

Chronojammsgtpainall I can say is, when you all stop bitching and start taking action, be sure to give me a call... I'd love to fly anywhere in the world just to sit in court and hear the judge when he reads the suit..

Maybe you should try Judge Judy.. she might hear you out.

You never know these days though. Originally posted over at <http://www.renalert.com> :

You're comparing a case where a woman deleted game data on her boyfriends computer, and he pressed charges against her in the same town.. Most folks here don't seem to get the whole "Atlantic" issue in this argument for some reason.

Go ahead, take a guy from Europe to court, where are you going to file, Florida? Germany? The Netherlands? You get to spend all that money on court fees, plane tickets, hotels, appearances, etc, etc; in hopes that a judge will award you with a replacement Windows98 computer? and worst case scenario, you're out all your cash, then get to pay for all their court costs too..

Like I said, this seems right up Judge Judy's alley; if she does international cases that is.

That case has nothing to do with removing data from someones computer. It has to do with a law that bans illegal access.

Quote:Police reported the woman, of Takaoka, Toyama Prefecture, to the Fukushima District Public Prosecutors Office accusing her of violating a law banning illegal access.

Using this case as referance to what the installer allegedly does to people's computers will get you no where as the installer does not gain access to anything on the computer illegally (this means passworded areas, not something unprotected).

Oh no! My heart is broken now.
/sarcasm

Save me the drama. I was making fun of J_ball. If you feel offended that I posted a picture of someone with down syndrome, then I'm truly sorry. I didn't want to make fun of anyone with down syndrome including you.

By the way, they aren't called retards. That kid just has down syndrome.

And we find it funny that you find it funny in any shape or form to insult people of a different persuasion to you.

One rule for thee and another for me time with you, eh?

When YOU stop making fun of other people for no reason, you start telling others the same, cowmoron.

Theres a fine line between calling someone a moron or idiot and making fun of someone who has a disability like that with no control over it.

Sorry.

I figured you were making fun of j4s[p] until you said that. I was wondering what I said that would deserve that. No harm, no foul.

Just be careful next time. DON'T LET ME EVER CATCH YOU MAKING THAT MISTAKE EVER AGAIN!

Nice try to get yourself out of that one. You don't make fun of someone just because their retarded or have a medical problem. How the hell do you know if he really has that? Maybe he has a serious medical problem. You are the n00b in the first place for choosing from thousands of insults that one.

This thread is just spam. All everyone does is bash Reborn or RenAlert, whining about "OMG PL4ST1C SUX" to "L3IK UR R3B0RN 1N$T4LR B0RK3D MY 1337 C0MP00T3R" bitching. Besides, there is hardly any difference to your post, from mine. Why? Because it's spam. Like this topic.
