I left renegade almost a year ago thanks to the cheaters, but decided to give it another try yesterday. I can run renegade perfectly with NO lag, but when i add renguard, my pings go off the chart and i lose connection and can't stay in a game. Uninstall renguard, and presto, renegade works. I have uninstalled and reinstalled everything many times. It cant be my server or a virus or spyware, because it works fine otherwise. Any ideas? I'm XP, ram 512, intel pentium 4, dsl connection nortons internet security

Thanks!

Format C:\

Works for me

(seriously, it does!)

renguard replaces your game.exe, so I could understand if you had some firewall software that notices it changed and not allow it to make any network connections. BUT you said that you can get into game playing and it pings you out, correct? Frankly, RenGuard isn't the problem. It simply doesn't transmit enough data (nor a constant stream) to ping you out of a game.

Ok, i still dont understand the whole c:\ thing..please explain. Second, I got to thinking..i had to go buy another renegade disc (out of the c&c complete pack) because i couldnt find disc 1 from the first time i had the game like eons ago. Could that be the problem? This really is frustrating. I just want to play.

format C:\> basically means wipe EVERYTHING off your computer and start again.

Including Windows.

Yeah, but please, don't re-install anything (including Windows).

To reformat, most people agree you could install CnC Reborn.
