It's not possible unless you have some old one based with win98. REALY not possible if its XP. If it's a Dell you're screwed becuase the disks are tied to the hardware.

pop the disc in and hit explore.. or like u should be able to see if u can pick and choose if u can install single things from the disc ive reformatted computers b4 that have just the xp install disc.. but then the rest of the system stuff like devices drivers were on a diferent disc can you not just use the hard drive you are intending to use and put it in your old pc, do the app recovery, then put the hard drive in new pc?
