I'll do it provided you pay me $15 for each one. Considering I spend about three days average on each one I don't think that's an unreasonable price.

If you wan't your models textured and are willing to pay, look for good texture artists, don't just go with the first guy to come along. People, don't take advantage of this guy.

How would we be taking advantage of him? We would show him the texture and if he likes it, then he pays. If not, we wasted a few hours.
