You would have to ask the server owner, most people don't want to announce their IP to the public in case stuff happens. With that said it is incredibly easy to find out the IP of any server via several ways.

If you have "All seeing eye" you can get a list of servers that way, and then you can copy/paste them into RenegadeIP.

If you're loggin on to a Westwood server, why not just log on to Westwood yourself?

Because its easier to direct connect because you have any name you want, and also you slightly reduce lag i think

I can't log on to westwood right now, because its messing up, if I got an ip of a server thats running on westwood right now I could connect to it easily

Uhm.. I'll clue you in on a little secret.. NO ONE is on Westwood Online, cause it's "messaging up".. You'd be playing with yourself.
