bad exit point with the Nod APC. when you exit the vehicle you "hang" there for a moment, leaving you easy prey for any sniper... or just about any weapon.

There must be a fix, because it doesn't apply to the Mammoth which is a bigger vehicle.

To fix this would require a model change, model changes are not serverside. So if this was added in a RenGuard / Core Patch update then players without this update would be unable to join the server.

so? it'd be like Renguard then. you don't have to use it, but you can't play on certain servers unless you do.

No, it would not require a change of model. It would require a change of transition points to exit the vehicle, which are defined in the level editor.

So... is that easily done?

So....

Is it or is it not possible to make a feasible fix? That's all I'm asking, hopefully my question will have a straight answer instead of incomprehensible garbage.

Hm.. im not sure, ill try to modify it but i dunno if it will work serverside O.o
Its not an option to do it as a 'required' change i think. The current Core Patch doesnt do any changes that makes it so that people HAVE to download it.

When this is done you will probably see a significant player drop on the server because alot of people just dont download it.

Can you not get it added to the Renguard itself ? so it will be like the corepatch and will auto update when you log onto Renguard ? Wouldn't this be easier ?
