Why do you even bother to post here if you are so disconnected to the game? It's old - you don't like it, then fine. But move on elsewhere please.
No offence, but those who still enjoy the game don't care to hear your negativity. Comradery is one thing, but your indifference has no value here at all.

Alot of us have bonds with the forums and the people here. General discussion....generally doesnt have anything to do with renegade. So i hang around here.

I've been here since the day the original forum opened, which was way back in Febuary of 2001. I don't plan on leaving until this place is dismantled. If you don't like it, deal with it!

DoitleSick O are you back for the long haul? Or are you just popping in.

I like this "crack pipe" game too much & have too many friends to give it up...I'm playin' again but with moderation.

It's like I said earlier, comradery is certainly a good reason to hang around & I understand that. However, this is a "Renegade" forum & the negativity is not needed. We know some are bored with it & that's OK, but Renegade does not "suck"...

I got bored of renegade, so I didn't play and didn't slag it off here. Now I'm not bored of it, I'm playing again, and even putting in a few comments here. It's a simple case of choices.

AircraftkillerOf course it sucks, or else it would have a much larger community behind it. It never had much support in the first place and although it needs major improvements, it's still fun. The fun factor is why people stick around.

remekwere u parents hitting ur head with a stick when u were young? looks like u have mental disability

I'm the one who has a mental disability yet you think Ur, the ancient city of Babylon, is short for "you're"? You also think the letter u is short for the word you, yet I'm the one with a disability.

I'm pretty sure you got that mixed up, boy.

12 entries found for ur.

Ur P Pronunciation Key (ûr, r) Known in biblical times as Ur of the Chal-dees (kldz, kl-dz).

A city of ancient Sumer in southern Mesopotamia on a site in present-day southeast Iraq. One of the oldest cities in Mesopotamia, it was an important center of Sumerian culture after c. 3000 B.C. and the birthplace of Abraham. The city declined after the sixth century B.C.

u1 or U P Pronunciation Key (y)

n. pl. u's or U's also us or Us

The 21st letter of the modern English alphabet.

Any of the speech sounds represented by the letter u.

The 21st in a series.

Something shaped like the letter U.

U A grade that indicates an unsatisfactory status.

Damn that letter u. Always trying to prove it's right. And that city of Ur, it's so argumentative!

All that link does is show that you're unable to type simple words that take less than a second to write out. I guarantee I can type the word you before you can type the letter u.

I proved my point; you're an idiot. You can't write out simple words and phrases but you're more than happy not to abbreviate anything larger than three or four letters. Why aren't you abbreviating everything else? Why not save the time and write without vowels?

"Slang" does not equate to anything resembling proper English.

While I don't agree with the over-the-top approach to ensuring the world types with adequate spelling (over-the-top simply because some people will never learn, regardless of how many times they are told), he is correct in saying that it's wrong.

It really doesn't matter if it saves you time/space/whatever, it doesn't make it proper, or acceptable in any type of business environment, or any respectable environment for that matter. There is a reason why people who type like that are laughed at....

Strangely enough, seeing as I learnt to type in school and not on chatrooms, I can type utilising full spelling and grammar. It's not just because I'm clever, it's also through habit. You type like that and send it to an employer and they'd be tempted to phone you up just to ask if you're taking the piss. Believe me I did it, they dragged me into an interview to ask if I was having a laugh. I was. I got the job...

Go figure.

Personally I disagree also with the use of numbers instead of letters. It's ok in the use of names, for example M1ke, but not in regular speech. That should be the sole reserve of a-holes who want their car registration to say e.g. Mr Singh (MR 51 NGH) i agree with that, but it still doesnt change the fact that it is used all over the internet as a slang, and while im using internet i dont really care what other people have to say/criticize about my spelling, especially when i dont use that kind of abbreviations on my daily basis, while im doing my school work, etc.

That one actually exists, go check it.

I have a new plan, we ignore every useless post by Aircraftkiller. Eventually, he has to go away, or at least get a haircut. Thats just an idea though. You people constantly feed into his arguments, that just makes him want to stay more. He finds it fun to mess with everyone on here. Its a form of entertainment. So, if you ignore him, it will lose the fun, making him want to leave! Thats just my idea though.

Just to add to it all...

OMFG STFU!!!1! I H8 U ALL!!!!!!!!!!!!1!!!!!!!!!!!! OMFG ASL GIRLS? YEY! 1 4M 1337!
