Player got signed onto a team -> Guy steals a laptop he could easily afford -> Caught by police -> Contract voided.

His career went down the poopoo hole. All in the space of a day too!

Its amazing that someone who makes more money than all of us put together (and for doing something "fun"), would even bother to steal what was probably a crappy used laptop, when he could easily afford a nice one.

Yeah I once heard about 2 carjackers who jacked somebody's car then later, in the haste of trying to get rid of it, tried to sell it to the original owner. :huh:

What really killed me though, is after I found out it was my cd player, he tried to get the police to arrest ME.

I did destroy the evidence on his head though, even got barred from that pub..

Hehe, at first I thought it was great, I was aware of actually driving. I wasn't spending attention on changing and finding the cd.

Then after a month I realised I was babbling to myself and making stupid noises just for some sound, so I put the old one back in.. and it promptly died!

I've got a good one now that even I can't get out, never mind some thief
