The new mod team called Polymods needs new members to add to its list, in addition we need someone to host our site and give us FTP access. Polymods started in these forums making the renegade racing project, here is the link to our latest thread. You can also visit our site at www.polymods.ohgo.com (this is on temporary servers) we are not devoted to jsut renegade, we mod all games we can, we also need article and tutorial writers as well as news updaters so we can cover basic community news. skimmers, scripters, mappers, general modders, beginners, and modelers are all welcome [October 23, 2002, 18:07: Message edited by: Maimer1]

sure, YR maps are good, we are using renegademods.info for our large files for download, but we dont want to rely on them completely, we just need a 30mb server with FTP access and support for php, cgi and other scriptswe can keep the site up but without a decent server we look like newbies, we tried getting hosted by gamespy but they want sites that are dedicated to one game

oh and if anyone knows of a good file manager where we input description, location of review and allow ppl to rate the file that would be great, we also need reviewers, and war story makers for ALL games no, thats Easy Space with the 1 MB file limit we could use freewebs to replace the geocities ads cause you only need 1 instead of 1 for EVERY frame
