Ok i have been getting hassled from far to many people when im ingame saying that renguard can be exploited so easily etc etc. What i would like to really know is if there are logs that can show if it has been attempted, or what can be done in terms of cheating with renguard running. Far as i know if there was a way around renguard, it probably wouldn't give the person any more advantages, since it blocks so many things, but i keep hearing of people saying there is over 30 ways to exploit renguard...

What i really need to know, is how many times has it been exploited, i want to know if these people are lying or what the deal is with this. I am just sick and tired of running renguard , to join a server and get blammed for cheating even when they see im running it. It just doesn't make any sense to me how they think so low of it, when it stops alot and if not all cheats into the renegade data.

is there any way of checking into this or explaining to me what kind of advantage an exploit would have on the other end. I would just like to know for my own good that this is the safest way to be cheat free.

More people should really realize that this is the only thing stopping cheaters from ruining the game, and even if you are running it, and not in a Full Rg server i believe that is as good as it can get.

i personally run it every time i start renegade up, and i keep having people tell me its so EASY to exploit. In the sense of EASY , do they mean it takes a very skilled hacker to even do? or does that mean anyone can pop a cheat in and play with renguard?

Basically there is a dispute down at stormgaming servers, and all the moderators think of renguard as nothing more then a program that runs in the background and does nothing to stop cheats.

Were all these people brainwashed, or is there really easy ways to exploit it?

The people saying it's "so easy to exploit" are merely concerned with ruining the reputation of RenGuard so that confidence will dip and less servers will use it, allowing them to cheat again. Considering the source, a server owned by a well-known cheater, that really shouldn't surprise you.

The only reason they are able to cast this doubt is because the RenGuard client software hasn't been updated in so long. However, work is done on the master servers, where about 90% of the security lies, at least once a month if not many more times.

We follow all the popular cheating sites and we know what's out there. The first time someone actually came up with an exploit and released it, we had it fixed on the server side within 30 minutes of the release.

Yes there are some players who blindly believe so much that RenGuard can be easily bypassed. That's because the cheating server administrators say that and their followers respect them, so they'll believe anything they say. I know A1GAYme's nephew claims he can bypass it easily. I've asked him how, and he just kept insisting that RG lets you cheat it's so easy to bypass.

I have found a cheat, that works with RG, but it is so shitty, it's not worth using (a triggerbot)
:twisted:

The only person who I know that could have cheated was v00d00. But he joined renguard and improved the exploit.

Though Im not sure about calling it an exploit, bandie63I have found a cheat, that works with RG, but it is so shitty, it's not worth using (a triggerbot) :twisted:

i found this recently on my search for the usual only tested it for a short time got 4 kills and left it shoots about 50% of the time and only seems to shoot after you aim away from the target and not at it with some adjusting it can be perfect im sure there are a few perfect clickbots out there.. released or not released
