I've seen many people complaining about some of the maps in the rotations on most of the servers I've been on. I'm not bothered really but I'd like to see more of the non-standard maps being used too (seeing as I downloaded about 150 of them)

Is there any way of adding some kind of !losemap vote into the server, and if it gets, say 50 votes, then it gets replaced by the one advertised on the welcome note?

I think it would add more variety, and stop people complaining that Hourglass and Under suck

Thats very easy, just write an irc script that does that.

Well I've no idea how I would start an irc script, or how to host a server for that matter. Playing can be hard enough for me sometimes!
