What happens when one is bored and messes with the physics settings? Find out.

If the download does not work, try this.

LOL, I like doing things like that!

Here's a scenario for ya.

More like a war story really...

HOW TO CREATE A HUM-VEE ACT LIKE AIRCRAFT (NOT VTOL)

-build a massive (and I mean MASSIVE) long stretch of road making sure at either side of the road there are blockers so the vehicle cannot escape from the track.

-make the changes to the humvee physics:

- *Speed: 999999

- *Suspension: 0.35

- *GravScale: 5.25

- join the map, making sure the humvee & you are at the beginning of the track. Start!, make sure you don't bang into the sides! in time, your humvee will gradually set off with enough time & speed!

You will fly off into outer w3d space like, but, its alot of fun seeing it happen!

Have you ever tried to setup a new vechicle? there are like a million little things. In out in out, it would take you days to set one up

Though it's not neccassary when you have the needed info.. mass, aerodynamic coefficient,max torque, gear ratios and final drive.
Just find a publication with tech specs and you're set.

No actually.

That explains it.
