General discussion of Command & Conquer Renegade

it's about damn time we started talking about RENEGADE related things in this forum. can we set up some sort of off topic section for all the useless CRAP people keep spamming about their shitty website/how to find a forum host/web portals/yadda yadda STFU this is about RENEGADE, this is a RENEGADE forum, that means we talk about RENEGADE here.

Fucks sake already.

No one really wants to talk about renegade much in here anymore, change the description of the forum.

What people SHOULD do is put "OT" right before their topic name if it isn't about Renegade. But I also agree with Flyingfox's idea.

You have to realise that renegade happened a long time ago. Nearly everything that could to be said has been said. We have all played the single player, and online.

The only new things are rengiard, a pathbeyond (not sure if it has a new name now), reborn, and what ever black hand can cobble together. Most of those have their own forums, or cause huge fights on this one.

Wow, ACK wasn't the one to derail this thread. Maybe I should ban glyde now. :rolleyes:

Anyway, I don't really care what is chatted about here. The descriptions are the ones I took from the Westwood-hosted Renegade forums when I took over.

I didn't go off-topic. I stated a fact about what you posted. Get your facts straight.

I did. I posted about deadfive being one of the few people who, although having the annoying habit of posting way to much of the same, always is posting about Renegade. So the comment about it only being darkfive is who posts things non-renegade related is wrong . Yes he does spam about his web-site. But even if it is spam, it is Renegade Related.

This thread isn't about spam, but the fact that we shouldn't post (so much) OT stuff in a General Renegade Forum. Discussing the fact that he spams is there for not on topic.
