when hosing a game that you want to play uncheck the "Dedicated server" box.

As for commands on a normal server the only ones you would normally use are listed if you hit:

"~" !Help

/|\ i think thats right, but not sure. If not it will say what the actual command it.

On another note, while were talking about it, i forgot the WOL command to PM someone while ingame. So if anyone knows, let me know.

/join <name> joins that user if they are ingame or in chat.
/r <msg> replies to the last person that paged you.
/locate <nick> finds that person.
/invite <nick> invites nickname.
/<nick> <msg> pm's someone ingame.
/kick <nick> kicks a nickname from ingame if you are host.
f8 - allow <nick> allows the nickname those are really the basic things you would need to run a non fds server
f8 - help gives you a list of all commands

Remember, it's are, not r.
Remember, it's you, not u.
Remember, it's your, not the city of Ur.

2 ways of playing the game you are hosting with FDS.

1) open FDS, run renegade using the "/multi" property (make a shortcut and pop it in) (reneguade dosn't allow /multi, so i suggest using 2nd option)

2) run renegade before you run FDS
