Any progress done about this?

Just to know.

I'm still dealing with script kiddies doing their thing, plus actually like having a life. I also had to move n00bstories.com and everything running on that box to another box I have in order to save some money. The redesign is VERY high on my priority list and won't be much longer.

Your IP was picked up by my DDoS detection script accidentally. Sorry. You should be able to access the site now.
