Just get to know the owners of the server well so they trust you.

Don't ask, most people who do won't ever be able to be a mod.

I personally don't see why people always want to be a mod, it's just more work. I spose it's to do with power craving.

I would like to be a Mod in a few servers. But only because a few certain people need a swift kick in the ass a few times. Stealing my vehicles, stealing my allies vehicles, throwing mines as weapons, running around wasting ammo, being the most Anti-Stealth player in the game, and even being the most Anti-Ally Stealth player in the game.

Since when did other people wasting their ammo deserve a kick?

I never really cared about being a mod. The UN clan just kinda made me one in their servers because they trust me I guess. IMO, the best mods, are the ones who don't care that they are one. I agree with DJM though, it just makes more work for you and distracts you from the game most of the time.

When they waste all their ammo in a game that doesnt allow refills, and then they wonder why they dont have any ammo. That isnt a full kick, just a qkick.

Ya I know but when I force people and Im the only one who force him....I would like to kick him. And I force people often, and Im the only one often.Its why I would like to be a game moderator. (And for other reason but if I say all reason, I load up the page)

What happened to democratic removal? All of a sudden if one person dislikes one's actions they feel the need to qkick?

Fine, if they break the rules kick, but you can't kick for stupid reasons without a majority vote.

Unrules New Maps mostly. The vehicle stealing isnt that bad, but it does happen. And, yes, ive had someone get me killed when i was a Stealth Black Hand. He was out in the open, running through tanks, with an Engineer. I was right near him, hoping i wouldnt die. I died quickly from a Humvee that ran me over.

when it comes to kicking I follow the server's rules to the letter. Alot of mods allow their ego to allow them to abuse powers. If you do this you shouldnt be a moderator.

I normally follow rules set in things like that to the letter as well, rarely ever stepping over my boundaries.

"Wasting ammo" then getting a kick/qkick is the most pathetic thing I have ever heard of. Since when the fuck can you control how people use their ammo?

"Hey soldier, because you fired at that bird, I'm going to kill you".....

No, i mean just shooting around in your base. Such as, you go and buy a unit and just run around shooting everything. Trees, allied buildings, allied soldiers, allied vehicles, everything.

Its cost me my entire squad before. I used to have a squad of seven, highly trained people playing with me. I stopped playing for about a month because i lost my Internet connection, when i came back, they were all like that.

No, im just makin shit up, ive never had seven highly trained people play with me in Renegade. They have "Internet" not "internet" in the Spell Check thing...

This is why I don't like the !forcerg command. You get little n00bs like this who shouldn't even know about the command and their using it. If this guys in the game the server would probably bet better off pure renguard.

OMFG, YOU KILLED THE TOWER YOU MUST BE DA HAXOR!! !FORCERG !FORCERG!!
COMMON PEOple HES CHEATIN!!!

I can see that coming from this guy.

I use to say !forceg but then I realized those people I accused of cheating was people who lived on the game and had nothing in life to do but kill nOObs and brag.

ooooooooook... Im not forced to be a game moderator???? oh and I dont use !forcerg for nothing... I use always !forcerg for a good reason. Example : last time I play on a server and a guys insult me because he have just 5hp sorry but when a stupid N00B (i said N00B) insult (in private chat)you because he have just 5hp..... you would like to !qkick him. And because Im not a game moderator, I cant !qkick him,result.... he insult me all the game. If its not a good reason.....Im sorry but you have a problem or its because you ignore the guys. Anyway.... for me its a good reason, for you.....no idea.

In my servers, we go by a policy of only clan members becoming mods and even they can lose that privilege if abuse is reported.
