Ok I'm hosted at 818hosting.com and i was told i could set up CnC Renegade servers on my account. (zircury.com)
So i asked him what RedHat they were using and he said 8 so i dl'd the one for Redhat v. 8 and installed it on my server.
Now i dont have root acess but know where my server is at. (full folder from root).
I was wondering could i remote acess the folder and start up and manage the server from there and also ingame in commands?

You should have shell access to start your server under linux.
 http://search.msn.com/results.aspx?q=putty+download&FORM =QBFF

Login on the server using putty for example, then you should change the directory to where your RenegadeFDS is installed.

type: ./RenegadeServer
to start it.

If the above doesnt really help you i suggest you email the guys who are providing you the server and ask them for step by step instructions.

Thanks man I'll try this today.
I need to reupload i put it into a confusing dir...
so its gonna take me a while (DSL upload speeds: 56kbs DL: 900+kbs why does this seam unbalanced?).
I'll dl the program and try it.
I'll also ask my host!

Thanks a bunch its not uploaded but i conneced through shell to the server and am able to navagate the dir's and run commands.
thenks sooo much for the help, YOUR A SAVIOR!
Now i can get the newageanarchy servers up!
for each server i have do i have to have a diff port?
