Ever notice that on every topic you make, the title is missing a letter that completely changes the meaning?

Oh and dont forget the spam thing.

There has to be some sort of a limitation, or downside to that. Also, why is it that they are the best hosting ever?

nopic, you never answered my questions? Why is it that they are such an awesome web host?

Hell, their site doesn't even function properly. . .

1. You click products, and are brought to a directory, you then click estore in that directory and you are brought to the default OScommerce installation. It's not that hard to change the colors and layout thing for it, they could have at least changed the theme.

2. You click services and are brought to a directory with a cgi-bin folder in it, you click that, OPPS, YUO ARE FORBIDDED! YUO CNT ACCCES TIHS PGAE WE H8 YUO!

3. About. . . guess what 404 ERROR! AGH!

4. Specials. . . Ohh boy! this one works, or maybe not. . . Chat room site, or Pay-Site Promotion? Please turn the background of the Pay-Site Promotion image to black, so it's not all jagged! CLICK HERE FOR MORE INFORMATION!. . . Ok, what about the chat room site. Ok, umm. . . 500 megabytes of disk space. That's not alot. I have 1.6 gigabytes of ONLY Renegade files on my server, That's only downloadable files, not to mention everything else I have on my hard drive not uploaded, or any other files on my server. I have 2.1 gigabytes of web pages and files and such on my server, 1.6 of it Renegade. And if any of you have checked out the Renegade section of my site, you'd see I don't have too many files. $125 up front? and all you get is 500 megabytes? I spent no money on my server, and I pay for my Internet connection anyways, so basically it's free except for the time it took to get it all setup. Also, if I need something I just install it myself, I don't have to wait for whoever owns my server to do it, or whatever else could happen. Ok, now what about that Pay-Site Promotion thing? 1 gigabyte of space? Still not much. $300 up front and $100 a month. You could go to servermatrix and you one for roughly the same price, $20 more a month, but but only $99 up front for the cheapest one, and you get ALOT more.

5. Their support. . . Umm. . . hmm ]looks very helpful[/sarcasm] A grand total of *Drum roll* 3 members! What, a whole forum about how to get a .tk domain? Information about how to obtain a .tk domain name extension. No posts? Not very informative now is it? Now, lets head on to Pay-Sites click the only topic in there, and read. . . Ok so banners can be done, but it costs $20, I thought that came with the hosting? Guess not. . . And what is with that squashed WKWebs banner thing? Tux must be ashamed to be on that banner. (OT: When Debian starts up Tux is drinking beer!)

6. Ok, now lets click on contact. What is this, a completely different website? I can't read what those links are, blue against a dark Grey background. My grandfather can't read the numbers on the back of his credit card, he'd never be able to read that. I can't hardly read it, and I have 20/20 vision I had to highlight the links so that I could read them. I'm not even going to bother going on anything on this other site which is somehow the contact page for that other site.

The logo style is very outdated (About ten years). But the rest of the page looks like a modern template. I clicked most of the links on the site. Everything looks like a template or has a "Under Construction" page.

This "web host" is probably a couple of nopic's friends. It's not very different from Slavik's iHostingCenter. Look, there's a band website hosted. They're just experimenting with the internet.

I hope nopic and his friends are over 18 though, which they probably aren't. Look at the lower right corner-it looks like they're trying to start an "adult" network.

Maybe, maybe not. But it wouldn't matter anyway as I don't have Windows at the moment. The sticker turned up missing a year or two before I uninstalled Windows. So I'm going to buy a laptop with a copy of it. That's also not to mention I spend less free time on the computer due to work, school, and these so-called "outdoors."

ok as pointless as this post may be im gonna say it anyway, i personally know the owner of wkwebs and there is no way he would allow someone to just start posting advertisements like this, he has been notified, and as far as the site content goes, let me clear up a few things right now, yes hes over 18, yes he realizes the site looks lame ( notice the content is all gone and under construction) and yes he is looking for someone to help with the new design and layout of the site. as far as the services go, no he does not host 20 of nopic's sites, however he does have quite a large client base, i hope that clears things up and maybe this thread can be closed now. as for those trashing the content of the site. if you really are interested.. check back in a few days. im sure youll things from a different point of view. sorry to bother ya, just had to clear it up, and hey Nopic.. stop dropping advertisements in forums. its not good business
