ok iam not sure what iam doing wrong, but when i play games i always end up loosing connection half way torwads the end. the thing is that i enter the game, any game with a 94 ping. through out the whole game it goes back and forthe from 100. i have done everything to fix it. i lowered my graphics down and i turned up my connection speed to the highiest. not to rag on anyone, but this is bullshit. if anyone has any other ideas or thoughts it would be cool.

might have idea

ok so far what i have seen, and or experinced my self is that when someone acuses me of cheating i start to lag. when i was qkick once, i started to lag before getting the message. so far i think its a way to nicely kick or remove someone from a game, by lagging them. iam not sure, but its pretty close to the truth as far as what i see in the servers in WOL.

Yes, nes. It's one thing to "accidently make duplicates of the same topic due to a FUDforum error," but there is absolutely 100% no reason to reply in those duplicate topics when one topic is more than sufficient.

very true, but yet, why is it not possible to change, and or delete a post?! Most people would not noticed unless they checked each one...unless they didn't see the others, I posted to help everyone...if your not going to help with this post, please do not reply!

Don't set your connection to the highest setting. Set it to maybe one above your own connection, or equivalent to it.
