If it were physically possible to shang-hi the remains of Westwood Online from EA Games, I'd say "go for it". Hell, I'd even donate for it. However, it'd take quite a bit of money and manpower to keep that sucker up.(Though it doesn't seem like XWIS has much problem in doing it. . .)

No, I wouldn't pitch in $10. I don't play the game anymore, plus, put the $10 towards something worth the money. I am not going to put that much towards a game that's over 3 years old. No way.

If I had $10, sure. The only problem is that my $10 is currently being spent on gas money. Fucking oil industry. Fucking oil industry. Fucking oil industry!

Are you kidding me? Two thousand dollars is comparative to a penny in someone else's pocket. It's absolutley nothing to an international corporation the size of EA. They make at least 15 times that amount in revenues each day. I'm doubting they'd let go of WOL for anything less than $20,000.

Yeah, it says you're a hypocrite. EA never tried to destroy renegade like you tried to and failed.

Haven't you people ever heard of REOL? You have a better chance at reviving that.

Which reminds me, my mom just got a new SUV. It's fucking ugly as hell, and it has worse gas mileage than my 14 year old car does.

You should know Ive never had problems maintaining my Pontiac Grand Prix. Those imports seem to fall apart if you look at them. At least all of the ones ive seen.
