I remember being on a server before where if I typed !help the host automatically pmed you with commands you had access to. Does anyone know how to make commands like this? I'd also like to know how to edit the !website command and !own commands that I already have but.... I dont see a txt file to do this. Only command I see that has a txt file atm is !rules which is named serverrules.txt

Yeah but how do you make them? Or edit the existing commands. The only command I was able to edit was the !rules command and thats only because their is a .txt file for it.
