I'm looking for some good music that is typical played when ever someone gives in an inspirational speech in movie.

I can't think of much. Preferably something without words.

Any song from the Team America: World Police soundtrack (a number of them are instrumentals).

Any classical with an uplifting theme would do. Think of any movie themes/music that give you an uplifted feeling. It doesn't have to be during a speech, though. If you don't want to use anything from a movie, use it as a guide to find the style of music that you are looking for.

Depending on how long you need it to be, the trumpet voluntary commorating 9/11 might be good.

It's called "United We Stand" and lasts for roughly 2 minutes.
