I was just on an irc channel having a discussion about different genres of music.

I thought it would be interesting to see your points of view on the topic.

I'm currently studying a BTEC national diploma in music at my local college and I'm learning about different styles of music, and the structure etc.

I've really grown to appreciate a wide range of music over the years. As you will see by my list.

My all time favourite has be Led Zeppelin due to their massive inspiration, amazing solos, talent, songwriting ability and stage presence.

But enough about that, some of my favourite bands are:

3 Doors Down
AC/DC
Aerosmith
Alice Cooper
Audioslave
Bon Jovi
Black Sabbath
Boston (havn't heard alot)
Bryan Adams
Chris Rea
Dire Straits
Eminem (not all of his stuff, but things like the cover of Aerosmith - Dream on, I love)
Eric Clapton
Europe (yes I know they only had The Final Countdown but hey, what a classic!)
Fleetwood Mac
Foo Fighters (I wish I was Dave Grohl)
Guns 'N' Roses
Incubus
Intwine
Iron Butterfly
James Brown
Jamie Cullum
Jimi Hendrix
Joe Satriani
John Williams
Katatonia (Swedish rock band not Welsh pop band spelt with a C)
Korn
Led Zeppelin
Lostprophets
Lynyrd Skynyrd

Maralyn Manson
Mark Knopfler (solo stuff as well as Dire straits)
Metallica
Michael Jackson
Muse
Nickelback
Oasis
Phil Collins
Pixies
Queen
Queens Of The Stone Age
REM
Rage Against The Machine
Red Hot Chili Peppers
Stereophonics
Steve Vai
The Eagles
The Hives
The Smashing Pumpkins
Thin Lizzy
Tony Iommi (solo stuff as well as sabbath)
Travis
Yngwie Malmsteen
ZZ Top

There may be more. I'm also into Blues, I'm a massive fan of Jazz too. I beleive some of the world's best musicians are Jazz musicians.

As my composition tutor quite rightly said:

Quote:I don't beleive there is such a thing as bad music, only music with potential played badly.

What about you?

Note: Please don't turn this into a rap vs metal vs rock topic, whatever.

Lynyrd Skynyrd

Creedence Clearwater Revival
Bachman-Turner Overdrive
Blue Oyster Cult
Electric Light Orchestra
Pink Floyd
The Eagles
The Cars
The Beatles
The Rolling Stones
The Doobie Brothers
Yes
George Thorogood
The Who Guess Who Bad Company
Bob Seger
Aerosmith
Black Crowes
Supertramp
Rush
Steve Miller Band
Guns N' Roses
Whitesnake
Nazareth
38 Special
Steppenwolf
Joe Walsh
Dire Straits
Queen
Bon Jovi
Billy Squire
Billy Idol
April Wine
Foghat
Hooters
Jimi Hendrix
The Doors
Allman Brothers
The Scorpions
ZZTop
Grand Funk Railroad
Grateful Dead
Styx
Ozzy Osbourne
Black Sabbath
Eric Clapton
Cream
Thin Lizzy

John Mellencamp
Cheap Trick

ROCK N' ROLL!!!!!!!

Nirvana
Van Halen
Led Zeppelin
Def Leppard
AC/DC
Alice Cooper
Lynyrd Skynyrd
Fleetwood Mac
Creedence Clearwater Revival
KISS
Bachman-Turner Overdrive
Bob Dylan
Blue Oyster Cult
David Bowie
Pink Floyd
Iron Maiden (some songs, not all. They have some good songs)
The Eagles
REO Speedwagon
The Cars
The Beatles
The Rolling Stones
The Who Guess Who Bad Company
Bob Seger
Aerosmith
Guns N' Roses
Steppenwolf
Queen

Bon Jovi
Billy Squire
Foghat
Jimi Hendrix
Allman Brothers
ZZ Top
Grand Funk Railroad
Ozzy Osbourne
Black Sabbath
Red Hot Chili Peppers

Yes, Led Zeppelin is the all-time best. The Who is a close second. But Stairway to Heaven is one of the greatest songs, if not the greatest, in history.

Mostly classic rock, alternative rock, hard rock, metal, heavy metal, and a little bit of everything else.

About the only band I like that hasn't been listed already is Godsmack.

Anything that sounds good.

My interest is mostly around indie rock and alternative though. I like classic rock too but I don't listen to it nearly as much.

An example of indie rock would be the band The Velvet Teen. I'm sure none of you have heard of them.

- 1: Death (my number one band, Everything was great from this band, The music, their inspiration, non commercial. R.I.P Chuck Schuldiner)
- 2: control denied (another music project from Chuch Schuldiner)
- 3: Iron maiden
- 4: Cannibal corpse
- 5: Suffocation
- 6: slayer (their old music)
- 7: kreator (their old music)
- 8: Morbid angel (except their albums "heretic" and "Gateways To Annihilation")
- 9: Pantera (R.I.P Dimebag Darrell)
- 10: Vader (R.I.P Krzysztof "Docent" Raczkowski)

There are alot more metal/deathmetal band I like, ALOT more.

Some "normal" music:

- 1: The eagles
- 2: Led zeppelin
- 3: Dire Straits
- 4: pink floyd
- 5: toto

The most music I play and listen in death trash/heavy metal/death metal. I don't like bands like slipknot and stone sour, Nu metal or whatever it is called.

My "idols" are:

1: steve digiorgio ;the master at bass guitar, he played in bands like: iced earth (cd: horrorshow). testament, death (cd: "Human" and "individual thought pattenens"), conrol denied (cd: the fragile art of existance")

2: steve harris; Iron maiden bass player, he's damn fast to, But I don't think he'll be able to play the things like steve digiorgio does.

3: alex webster; Cannibal corpse bass player. He's also Ultra great. I have alot cannibal corpse dvd's and he really plays his balls off. death metal bass, jazz, everything.

I have to say some of my biggest idols are:

Billy Cobham (Solo Jazz Drummer)

Tony Royster (Solo Jazz Drummer)

Neil Peart (Rush Drummer)

Chad Smith (Red Hot Chilis Drummer)

Jon Bonham (Zep's Drummer)

Steve Vai (guitarist)

Dave Grohl (foofighters vocals, foofighters guitar, qotsa's old drummer, Nirvana's old drummer, Tenacious D's Drummer)

Bryan Adams (lyrical Genius as well as vocals and guitar)

Pick Withers (Dire Strits Drummer)

Mark Knopfler (Dire straits vocal + guitar + solo career guitar/vocals)

Kirk Hammet (Metallica lead guitarist)

Lars Ulrich (Metallica drummer/songwriter)

James Hetfield (metallica vocals/guitar/songwriter)

Jose Paillas II (Incubus Drummer)

Joe Satriani (insane solo guitarist)

Yngwie Malmsteen (insane solo guitarist + vocals)

Tony Iommi (Sabbath Guitarist)

There are more but I'm sure you've already got bored of reading the list.

Yes I'm a drummer almost 3 yeats straight.

Joey Jordison and Dave Lombardo are good drummers yes. But I beleive metal drummers, talented though they are are overrated. I'm not saying they are crap, they have incredible talent but there are better drummers out there.

Jazz drummers are among the best in the world. I've been lucly enough to meet Billy Cobham in person. Such a nice guy and such amazing talent.

I'd also like to add Buddy Rich to my list.

Steve Vai taught Kirk Hammet (metallica) to paly guitar. He's also an insane solo player.

If I remember correctly, Satriani taught vai to play guitar.

The genre they play, I suppose, is an aquired taste as it's basically an instrumental song with no lyrics, just 3 minute solos.

Try downloading for the love of god by steve vai and surfing with the alien by satriani.

Well it's really like 1989 but FF7 came out and I have that OST. I hate rap, I hate rock where it sounds like the guy is having a seizure on the floor and some guy put a mic next to him.

I noticed in a lot of cases that it really reflects the person's opposite. For instance I can call my mom bitch, and we both laugh. But I can't tell Brandy that I love her. So I listen to 80's music and such, all about love and relationships. Whilst most of you listen to rap and rock because you can't freely express your anger.

It's not true in every case, but it is true more than not. Heavily true that is.

I don't see how this is true. I mean, I can agree to a certain extent with like death metal and other bullshit rock genres like that, but for the most part I don't see rock as being an outlet for most people to vent their anger.

I believe he was licensed and commissioned to do the entire Final Fantasy Fanchise. It's pretty amazing with that man can do with a VST and a synthesizer.

Someone worth mentioning of course is Jeremy Robson of Kingston Ontario. Uematsu's works are amazing templates to remixers like him. The general MIDI Uematsu has been limited to for production reasons (I can only assume) doesn't give justice to the possibilities that can be generated. Jeremy Robson is one of the best I can think of who can take something as memoriable as the "Fifth Tier" of the Dancing Mad symphonic and turn out something one cannot discern from genuine orchestration.

Jeremy Robson's main site.

Additional songs from him not listed on his site (includes Kefka's Adagio)

Good stuff, highly recommended.

Don't put classic rock off as something "to listen to". Make it something that you DO listen to.

Might I suggest Led Zeppelin, AC/DC, Queen, Yes, Rush, Supertramp, Lynyrd Skynyrd, and Pink Floyd. There are obviously plenty others, but those are the top of my list.

For the people who have never heard Steve Vai I suggest you search p2p for speed metal symphony.

I am going to get you all listening to this genius of guitar playing by the end of the week.

I love Jazz, ever since I had to listen to it because I take Jazz in my Highschool, it grew on me and it's pretty realaxing to listen too.

[Edit] I also listen to Story of the Year, Sum 41, Linkin Park, Black Eyed peas, Hedley and Jazz occasionally when I get tired of listening to the same old stuff over and over.

btw if you're wondering I edited this post to make it 'less' spam

Yeah okay, you got me, back on topic now.

I'd love to play sax but what with me improving my drumming and learning acoustic and electric guitar I don't have the time or the money to do so.

Mike Portnoy, what about Meshuggah? Tomas Haake reigns supreme over both Lombardo and Portnoy in terms of technical ability. Joey Jordison is sloppy as hell, what are you people smoking?

Anyway, I play the guitar, bass and keyboards. I used to play the trumpet and recorder as well.

I don't have any music from Meshuggah. Gene hoglan is also a very good drummer. at least I think he's a good drummer. I'm a bass player so I don't know much about drums, well, not technical. I always play along with the drum though.

I play the guitar and drums (only for about a year in my free time).

the drummer from dream theatre is pretty fuckin' great, but i like to listen to jazz drumming more, because it's more independant and has a personality. Dream Theatre's amazing, i know, they're all near prodigies, but I don't like that metal kind of drumming (not necessarily dream theatre but you might know what i mean), because it's just fast and full of double/triple bass pedals to a point where it doesn't sound accoustic anymore, it's got no flavor.

My favourite music:

Linkin Park (except Reanimation album)
Rammstein (almost everything)
Robert Miles (nice instrumentals)
Ingrid Alberini (a.k.a. In-Grid, damn i love her voice)
Hymn of The Soviet Union

Painkiller Credits Theme

Frank Klepacki's soundtracks:

Red Alert 2: HM2, Grinder, Destroy.

Tiberian Sun: Ion Storm, Slave to the system, Killing Machine, Rain in the night.

Renegade: Got A Present For Ya.

Gene Hoglan...of course. I love his current work with Strapping Young Lad as well as what he did with Death as well.

I finally got the new Opeth CD Ghost Reveries, it's so good.

Oh, and I've been playing the piano/keyboards for almost 10 years, guitar for about 4 years, and bass around the same.

I don't have any new work from gene hoglan. Only from death. does he still play trash metal with fast heavy double bass? I've heard that he has to walk with a stick because his knees are damaged cause of his drumming.

Yea, try and get your hands on say, Shitstorm from Alien (which is SYL's latest effort), and you'll notice he's still nuts with the double bass.

Also he's in the video for Opeth's The Grand Conjunction, since Lopez is sick and Hoglan is filling in.

Well a friend of mine is a solo guitarist/singer/songwriter.

But the record company (MAS records, founded the one and only Robert Plant) said that they'd sign him if he got a drummer and a bassist.

It's nothing largescale, a few gigs here and there, and a few tracks on a yearly smallscale album. But it's still a record deal and the experience would certainly come in handy.

I've met the guitarist of Robert Plant's new band, but I haven't actually met the man himself.

My boss tells me that Mr. Plant visits the Indian quite often, so soon enough.....

In case I haven't mentioned before, I live about 2 miles from him so that's why he is so involved at college etc.

That's pretty cool, DJM, always helps to have someone close to jumpstart your stuff.

Bands around where I live usually go around with some low quality studio demo's of their bands for a while, but gigs are pretty easy to get if you know people to piggyback with. Every now and then, though, some band hits it big with a crowd and gets pretty popular around the city.
