I was just really lazy and started typing in this site URL when msn popped open. I accidently hit enter at the same time and got refered to this site:

www.renfor

I didn't know that was a possible DNS extension.

Oh ya, I was just in Japan and a song I heard there was Sakura... It means something like farewell and thank-you if I remember correctly.

Just seemed really weird for me after just coming back from Japan and all.

maybe it belongs to some Japanese webhost that doesn't have it registered?

Actually, it's www.renfor.com, but Firefox automatically adds ".com" to any unfinished domain. Try it with this site. Type www.renforums, and you'll see it'll take you here.

If you type in "Google" it'll take you to Google too, though it takes like 10 seconds to figure it out, which is lame.

blah + ctrl + enter = www.blah.com
blah + ctrl + shift + enter = www.blah.org blah + shift + enter = www.blah.net

You can test your signature by looking at posts you previously made. Retard. It doesn't just apply to new posts, it applies to all of them.

Nothing has crawled up my ass, but idiots like you have gotten under my skin. I'm tired of you retards. I know saying that wont do anything, but it helps to voice your anger. In a sense.
