
Subject: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Mindtzar on Wed, 02 Nov 2005 16:38:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well recently, I've been very interested in getting an MP3/music player.

So, after having a look at the iPod nano, I've been tempted to get an iPod. Although I'm not sure that will be the best option, the iPod nano does seem pretty cool but heh, I need you people to recommend me/highlight good points and bad points about certain music players <3

alot of people I know at school told me the iPod nano isn't really worth it because how fragile it is, also It'd be nice if the particular music player could store differnt files on it as well as music [/edit]

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Crimson on Wed, 02 Nov 2005 16:47:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yeah, the nano supposedly scratches easily... probably a scheme to sell skins for it but if you want the nano, buy a skin.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by idebo on Wed, 02 Nov 2005 17:38:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Get the Nano. I repeat: Get the Nano!

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Dave Mason on Wed, 02 Nov 2005 18:43:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

iPods SUCK. Get a creative Zen Micro.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Mindtzar on Wed, 02 Nov 2005 20:57:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

DJM wrote on Wed, 02 November 2005 13:43iPods SUCK. Get a creative Zen Micro.

Dave be more constructive, at least highlight advantages that the Zen micro has over other MP3 players.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by DaveGMM on Wed, 02 Nov 2005 21:08:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If you're buying a HiPod, then be looking to write to Apple to get a new battery in about a year. Those things are notorious for the batteries failing after a year.

Otherwise they're fantastic.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by light on Wed, 02 Nov 2005 21:15:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have a generic brand 128MB MP3 player, and it's absolutely fine (after I flashed it to a more stable firmware). All it lacks is a better equaliser. (Only 128, but plays MP3s and WAVs, stores the odd file too).

Try before you buy, iPods aren't necessarily the best because everyone has one. Find one that gives the sound quality your after.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Homey on Wed, 02 Nov 2005 21:27:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm thinking about getting this one...
http://www.futureshop.ca/catalog/proddetail.asp?logon=&langid=EN&sku_id=0665000FS10056814&catid=

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Mindtzar on Wed, 02 Nov 2005 22:33:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

hey, slight update kind of. I was talking to my dad, and he said I had to get one with at least 20GB, prefferably more. Mainly because of how large songs are getting and increasing in quality, and soon 5GB to 10GB and under wont be anywhere near standard.

So have you seen any monstrously large MP3 players out there?

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Hydra on Wed, 02 Nov 2005 23:01:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You need to be banned.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by Homey on Thu, 03 Nov 2005 00:54:56 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Mindtzar wrote on Wed, 02 November 2005 17:33hey, slight update kind of. I was talking to my dad, and he said I had to get one with at least 20GB, prefferably more. Mainly because of how large songs are getting and increasing in quality, and soon 5GB to 10GB and under wont be anywhere near standard.

So have you seen any monsterously large MP3 players out there?

The biggest is an ipod, they have a 60gb i believe, but I don't know where you get the idea that songs are getting any bigger in size and quality.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by light on Thu, 03 Nov 2005 01:25:07 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Quality is going up, compression algorithms are also getting more efficient. (Almost balancing, but not quite, sizes are on the rise, but not hugely so)

If your looking at 20GB, i'd say it's a fight out between iPod and a Creative-made player.

I haven't used either, so I can't recommend either.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by icedog90 on Thu, 03 Nov 2005 02:51:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Creative players have more features, and a 20GB Creative MP3 player would be $180. There's also another brand that is really good, but I forget the name.

DO NOT GET THE NANO. There have been many, many people reporting theirs getting scratched very easily (even if they treat it like a king) and having the screen crack from just putting it in their pocket.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by rengody on Fri, 04 Nov 2005 03:53:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Mindtzar wrote on Wed, 02 November 2005 11:38Well recently, I've been very interested in getting an MP3/music player.

So, after having a look at the iPod nano, I've been tempted to get an iPod. Although I'm not sure that will be the best option, the iPod nano does seem pretty cool but heh, I need you people to recommend me/highlight good points and bad points about certain music players <3

alot of people I know at school told me the iPod nano isn't really worth it because how fragile it is, also It'd be nice if the particular music player could store differnt files on it as well as music

[/edit]

buy me a nano, and i'll try it out for you

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by Spice on Fri, 04 Nov 2005 07:40:44 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

heh, forget Ipods. Get one of those linksys wireless Mp3 player docks that lets you detach the mp3 player and use it by itself or dock it and send your music to your stereo.

l33t +++

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by Goztow on Fri, 04 Nov 2005 07:55:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Ipod are terribly overprised. Also: 20 GB, WTF??? You'll never use a 10th of that. If you're gonna buy a 20 gb player, then at least buy one that can also play video...

Quality of songs going up? If you have a 5 minute song that takes 10 MB, that's A LOT and you will never hear any quality difference between cd-quality and higher quality. Your ears aren't made to hear a difference . So that would make about 2.000 songs. Tell me: do you really need that on your player? Or can you just put around 200 on it and change those after some weeks?

You should also consider that if you buy your cd's, you must be a really rich bastard or a disk jockey to have over 2000 songs. If you download them (naughty boy, do not do that) then you will hardly ever find MP3s that are more than 3-5 MB because that slows down the downloads. People just keep an acceptable but not too high quality so it transfers rapidly.

So yeah, I'd say buy a very small (in size of the player) around 1-5 gig player that suits everywhere. Ipod's are a pain to cary: wouldn't u prefer something that is quite a bit smaller than a mobile phone? I do think so that's always handy!

It will cost quite less too.

That's just my little input on this interesting topic.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by icedog90 on Fri, 04 Nov 2005 08:54:07 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

There are people unlike you that do in fact have more than 20GB of music. Incognito, for example, has over 20GB of music as of what I've heard. Also, downloading music doesn't mean it's not very good quality, it's VERY easy to download CD quality music.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by Goztow on Fri, 04 Nov 2005 12:11:19 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

icedog90 wrote on Fri, 04 November 2005 03:54 There are people unlike you that do in fact have more than 20GB of music. Incognito, for example, has over 20GB of music as of what I've heard. Also, downloading music doesn't mean it's not very good quality, it's VERY easy to download CD quality music.

I don't say I don't have that amount of music, i say that i really can't see the use of having them all on your MP3-man...

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by Dave Mason on Fri, 04 Nov 2005 17:03:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Goztow wrote on Fri, 04 November 2005 12:11 icedog90 wrote on Fri, 04 November 2005 03:54 There are people unlike you that do in fact have more than 20GB of music. Incognito, for example, has over 20GB of music as of what I've heard. Also, downloading music doesn't mean it's not very good quality, it's VERY easy to download CD quality music.

I don't say I don't have that amount of music, i say that i really can't see the use of having them all on your MP3-man...

You really are a retard. 90% of your posts are idiocy of the highest form. I have about 14Gb of music on my 20Gb MP3 player and I listen to it all.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by Mindtzar on Fri, 04 Nov 2005 22:49:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

DJM wrote on Fri, 04 November 2005 12:03 Goztow wrote on Fri, 04 November 2005 12:11 icedog90 wrote on Fri, 04 November 2005 03:54 There are people unlike you that do in fact have more than 20GB of music. Incognito, for example, has over 20GB of music as of what I've heard. Also, downloading music doesn't mean it's not very good quality, it's VERY easy to download CD quality music.

I don't say I don't have that amount of music, i say that i really can't see the use of having them all on your MP3-man...

You really are a retard. 90% of your posts are idiocy of the highest form. I have about 14Gb of music on my 20Gb MP3 player and I listen to it all.

I agree with DaveGMM. Gotzow tried to sound like he knew what he was talking about when he clearly didn't. AND ON THAT NOTE, I have some music that is 1GB in size (yes, drum and bass music compelations can be very very large, sometimes exceeding 1GB)

So I'm looking for huge ammounts of memory, maybe I'll even copy some games to it and play it while at school, thats why I'm looking for it to act as a flash drive as well.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by Ryan3k on Sat, 05 Nov 2005 02:56:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hydra wrote on Wed, 02 November 2005 18:01You need to be banned.

?

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by Spice on Sat, 05 Nov 2005 20:55:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The most ammount of music I have had on my computer at one time is about 2GB worth.. Then again, that's just me.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.

Posted by Dave Mason on Sat, 05 Nov 2005 22:46:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Mindtzar wrote on Fri, 04 November 2005 22:49DJM wrote on Fri, 04 November 2005 12:03Gotzow wrote on Fri, 04 November 2005 12:11icedog90 wrote on Fri, 04 November 2005 03:54There are people unlike you that do in fact have more than 20GB of music. Incognito, for example, has over 20GB of music as of what I've heard. Also, downloading music doesn't mean it's not very good quality, it's VERY easy to download CD quality music. I don't say I don't have that amount of music, i say that i really can't see the use of having them all on your MP3-man...

You really are a retard. 90% of your posts are idiocy of the highest form. I have about 14Gb of music on my 20Gb MP3 player and I listen to it all.

I agree with DaveGMM. Gotzow tried to sound like he knew what he was talking about when he clearly didn't. AND ON THAT NOTE, I have some music that is 1GB in size (yes, drum and bass music compelations can be very very large, sometimes exceeding 1GB)

So I'm looking for huge ammounts of memory, maybe I'll even copy some games to it and play it while at school, thats why I'm looking for it to act as a flash drive as well.

...

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Homey on Sun, 06 Nov 2005 17:30:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

EXdeath7 wrote on Sat, 05 November 2005 15:55The most ammount of music I have had on my computer at one time is about 2GB worth.. Then again, that's just me.
Yeah I have about 3-4, but only 2 would be stuff i'd listen to. Some people figure their amount is the amount everyone else has...
My dad probably has almost 1000 albums on CD so If I copied all that onto the computer it'd be huge too.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by DarkDemin on Sun, 06 Nov 2005 20:53:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I own an iPod nano and yes it does scratch EXTREMELY easily, but so do most iPods but the music quality and storage space produced for something so small is AMAZING! I bought some scratch remover offline specifically made for iPods and it cleaned it right up.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Buavey on Mon, 07 Nov 2005 03:54:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

icedog90 wrote on Wed, 02 November 2005 21:51Creative players have more features, and a 20GB Creative MP3 player would be $180. There's also another brand that is really good, but I forget the name.

DO NOT GET THE NANO. There have been many, many people reporting theirs getting scratched very easily (even if they treat it like a king) and having the screen crack from just putting it in their pocket.

Thats because the Screens are made out of glass now and no longer plexi glass. People bitched about the screens scratching up, so glass is now used instead because it doesnt scratch as easily. Ipods are gonna scratch up regardless no matter what you do, cause apple is lame and put a shiny gloss back that loves to scratch. Minis were the best cause they were different but now the minis are gone so w/e.

IPOD videos are probably the best ones to buy right now, not because of their retarded ability to play videos, but because they have the longest life for the battery. 60GB are reported to get up to 20 hours so you can expect about 15-18 hours of life. Remember, Anything can have a crappy battery. The key to expanding your battery life, is to fully charge it and and drain it completely a couple of times. Also, never leave them on the charger longer than needed. You'll just fry your battery that way. Lithium Ions, also suck in cold weather and will ahve shorter life spans.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Goztow on Mon, 07 Nov 2005 08:00:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Having your own opinion in here does always seem to make you a retard... So i guess all people would be retards in your reasoning...

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by icedog90 on Wed, 09 Nov 2005 06:50:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

IF you're talking to me...

Telling people to NOT get an iPod Nano is not an opinion, it's a warning. As far as I can see, I never said anything about everyone's opinions sucking. All I'm stating is my strong opinion, which has nothing to do with saying "all of your opinions suck and mine is better than all of you."

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by light on Wed, 09 Nov 2005 09:59:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If your getting a nano, Apple recommend getting a protective cover for it.

I would agree with Apple on this point.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Goztow on Wed, 09 Nov 2005 10:13:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

icedog90 wrote on Wed, 09 November 2005 01:50IF you're talking to me...

Telling people to NOT get an iPod Nano is not an opinion, it's a warning. As far as I can see, I never said anything about everyone's opinions sucking. All I'm stating is my strong opinion, which has nothing to do with saying "all of your opinions suck and mine is better than all of you." Wasn't referring to you, was referring to someone that is ignored but unfortunately was quoted...

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by Doitle on Wed, 09 Nov 2005 13:37:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I would strongly advise against a nano.

<http://www.newegg.com/Product/Product.asp?Item=N82E168551021> 27

I'm buying this one in a few days. Great price for the size and quality. And it's big! Which in my book is a positive aspect.

Subject: Re: Some kind of music player.
Posted by rm5248 on Wed, 09 Nov 2005 21:21:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I could clearly hear Hell March from like 25 feet away at full volume. (It wasn't in anybody's ear though)

Creative > Apple
