Hello All,
  I recently requested a server list and all that populated was a list of five or six servers instead of the usual eighty or so. I haven't knowingly changed any system parameters, and I usually have no problems at all with this program. Am I doing something wrong? should I try reloading the software? Any information would be helpful, and I will be grateful.

WOL is currently experiencing some difficulties. Please be patient, it may be a few more days before it returns to normal.

You will only see 6 servers because that is all WOL has at the moment.

We are in the middle of a transition to a new system called XWIS.

Instructions on how to connect to it are at http://xwis.net/
NOTE: XWIS is not 100% ready for Renegade yet, so you may well experience problems with it. (But at least it has servers)

If you dont understand on what to do with the problem, XWIS should hopefully bringing out an update for WOL so that it connect to XWIS on default.

You could wait for that if you dont understand the XWIS program, and of course you can always use GSA for a temp server browser.
