Ok, when I start up rengaard I get the "Can't create serial hash" error. When I go to regedt32/Software/Westwood/Renegade, I am unable to enter my second s/n, or even re-enter the same!

I was able to do this just yesterday, but now I keep getting "can't change key value"

I know when you install renegade, it hashes it so it does not appear as the same key there, but I have this problem before and that has fixed it

Do you have the WOLData file in your Renegade folder?

Yes. But if I'm supposed to enter it again into my registry it says it can't be added

No you shouldnt beable to add it either, The only thing i can suggest is reinstalling Renegade.. I had the problem not so long ago and i just swaped the current WOLData with the serial from my sisters comp, ran RG, left game and put mine back in and it worked.

How many people are using your sisters serial, and how many were using yours?

Its totally gone

And when I get enough time, I'll unistall it, then re-install it, but its more than this problem, so far the only thing we have gotten from this XWIS transfer was REALLY lagy servers (ping>999), and many people getting this problem, I TOATTALLY agree with alot of other renegaders, that WOL was a better choice

With the problem about the pings at like 995-999 is just a bug, once you join the server your ping will be normal.

Ya I know but still

Oh, also XWIS doesn't want to set up a XWIS laddre specifically for renegade, even tho they can get the info/files from EA
