Any chance of setting up a section of the forums just for the beta testers to collaborate? I think a lot more discussions, debates, and application flexing can take place if we're all working together -vice 20 independant testers. Thoughts?

I have suggested this a few weeks ago to create a special development forum for RenGuard beta testers. Apparently she didn't get around to do it yet, i am sure this will happen some time soon.

It's there, I think the beta users just need to be added to it.

omg it's me!

I've been "afk" from the community (especially wol) for quite some time now. I'm focusing on application development versus actual gameplay.

Anyway, back to the subject at hand: "Cool - just let me (us) know when it's up. You can probably send the details out to the beta testers via email".

Not at the moment. We are starting with a small group. We'll let you know.
