Her predictions on global warming

Now in Sylvia's book Prophecy she states:

quote:

Rising rate of skin cancer in the next five years leading up to 2010 especially in children

Between 2012 & 2013 a coalition of 5 major intl' corps will invest resources to revitalize the rainforests leading to cleaner air and decrease in chronic breathing disorders.

2024 acid rain becomes a regular part of our weather ecology late 2020's is a survivalist era for us, we will have to wear special protective clothing and headgear, water will be astronomically expensive to the purification processes that will be needed. Birth defects and animal mutations will soar.

Late 2020's will also see the birth of domed cities on all continents, but starting in the USA, Europe with India and Middle East last to follow.

2020 global warming and pole tilt will reach their peaks, glaciers will be near extinction, worldwide floods, tidal waves and erosion will change coastlines on all continents.

Most dramatic tidal waves will be in the orient and florida between 2025 and 2030, high casualties in the orient. Florida waves will be part of a swarm of hurricanes, but survival will be high due to the dome cities and advance seawall systems which get started in early 2020's.

Plagues and rivers of red, but not due to armeggedon but due to flooding and tidal waves creating breeding grounds for insects. Frogs become a major problem between 2022 and 2027 in central and south america.

Gulf of Mexico and western rivers will turn red, due to erosion and underground eruptions and fault line disturbances in western US.

Starting in 2029, frequent meteor showers.
re-emergence of Atlantis and Lemuria.

I found alot of this interesting, Though i have my doubts over the fact that she is said to be rong 50% of the time.

She sais Aliens will show themselves by around 2010 Lol Weird but freaky in a way.

What do you guys think about these predictions?

except maybe, I don't know... TOTALLY WRONG! Scientists have said that we are in a normal up swing of major weather, it is nothing special.

I believed it was possible, though highly doubtful, up until Atlantis. That's a load of shit, we're gonna find that and bring it up before that time. Y'know, if it exists.

Well, global warming or not, the snow here in Finland was quite late. Last weekend I could go outside on t-shirt without problems, when normally there would've been at least 10cm of snow and some-10C temps. It's finally arrived now, though. Looks like we get snowy christmas after all.

I don't know what it is about 2010, but everyone seems to be predicting some kind of extra terrestrial encounter in that year.

Personally, I wish they'd all just shut up and put their efforts to preventing all the things they claim to know will happen.

Things just don't change dramatically over that short of a time span. It would take centuries for what she says to occur.

Doesn't she know that we're going to be devoured by a giant cloud of planet-dissolving acid at around 9:15 A.M. EDT on June 1, 2014, anyway?

How about that guy noted on Fark.com who said we were all going to die last Friday? I wonder how big of a jackass he feels like now.

Hmm, actually, seems he was fired for it.
