

---

Subject: Hooray for non confidence.

Posted by bandie63 on Tue, 29 Nov 2005 00:24:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

<http://www.cbc.ca/story/canada/national/2005/11/28/noconfidencenvote051128.html>

Ugh. I am completely scared of a Conservative (Yes, that is the name of the party) government. On my local radio, they said something like 56 bills will be shut down if they come to power. Including Gay marriage.

Discuss.

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.

Posted by Javaxcx on Tue, 29 Nov 2005 03:18:14 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

It's not as much a matter that Canadians want a Conservative government, as they literally "have no confidence" in the liberal one. Frankly, I haven't had confidence in this minority in years. I agree with some of the policies they establish, and I would very much like it to stop there, but some greedy twits took advantage of the system, and if the conservatives get in-- and they absolutely WILL-- then I have to face some serious changes in legislation. My line of work depends greatly on the government, and with a conservative insignia next to the Canadian flag, I have to worry about possible pay cuts as well as take extra effort to ensure my own safety as privatization of our medical system will leave me penniless in such an event.

The liberals started out fine, then they took it too far-- and we suffer for it.

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.

Posted by Renx on Tue, 29 Nov 2005 03:26:09 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

To be honest I'd prefer the NDP over the conservatives...

Stephen Harper is lamer.

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.

Posted by warranto on Tue, 29 Nov 2005 14:37:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

It will come down to who is the lesser of the evils. I doubt that will be the liberal party (I hope not), though if the conservatives get in, I'd prefer them to have a minority government.

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.
Posted by almor999 on Tue, 29 Nov 2005 16:15:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I prefer the Conservative party and their platform and as of now they will have my vote. I agree with them on most major issues including gun registry, marijuana, same-sex marriage and the military.

For those of you who do not know a lot about Canadian politics this site goes over each parties stance on the major issues this election:
<http://www.ctv.ca/mini/election2006/static/issues/conservatives.html>

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.
Posted by Javacx on Wed, 30 Nov 2005 03:09:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

warranto wrote on Tue, 29 November 2005 09:37It will come down to who is the lesser of the evils. I doubt that will be the libral party (I hope not), though if the conservatives get in, I'd prefer them to have a minority government.

It would be nice if they represented a moderate government. But they hardly are anything shy of far right wing. I don't trust this minority, but I sure as hell don't trust Harper in charge either. He's toiling in matters that are perfectly fine the way they are, and not for the better.

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.
Posted by Aprime on Thu, 01 Dec 2005 03:56:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Renx wrote on Mon, 28 November 2005 22:26To be honest I'd prefer the NDP over the conservatives...

Stephen Harper is lamer.

I personally support the Neo Democrats on the Federal scene, but sadly most of their representatives are lamers that don't stand a chance between the ones of the two (correction: three here) major parties... For instance: their candidate in our district is unknown to the vast majority of the regional public, and she plans to turn this place into some sort of national park... Well, at least it seems.

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.
Posted by superj69 on Thu, 01 Dec 2005 04:33:56 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

i honestly dont like or trust any of the parties its not like they go through with what they promise ne ways .what else is dumb is that no vote for ne bill is a free election .i dont like the fact that you have to vote with your party, isn't it supposed to be what the ppl who voted you in want not the rest of your party

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.
Posted by glyde51 on Fri, 02 Dec 2005 13:41:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

NDP for the win, Stephen Harper is a failiure at life.

"LIBRLZ DO EVRY FORM OF CRIM LOLOLOL"

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.
Posted by DarkDemin on Fri, 02 Dec 2005 14:06:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I think their gun policy will make Canada more appealing to hunters ++ for your economy.

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.
Posted by Javaxcx on Fri, 02 Dec 2005 18:54:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Our gun laws aren't the same as the registration laws. The registration laws are an annoying and sometimes lengthy process of checks and balances in order for a person to *get* a gun. Hunters and trappers in the north have a different form of registry which allows them to acquire guns with much ease. I like the registration the way it is, because it's merely a bereaucratic means of deterring people who just want guns for the hell of it. It doesn't (as far as I know) affect which guns people may own, and frankly I'm glad the conservatives don't seem to be pressing that agenda. Prohibited weapons are prohibited for a reason, and tweaking that would be reversing years of work phasing out unnecessary weapons from the general public.

We don't have the 2nd amendment here, and I certainly feel safer because we don't.

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.
Posted by warranto on Fri, 02 Dec 2005 19:40:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

A joke to point out the obvious:

Q. How many liberals does it take to change a lightbulb?

A. Five. One to screw it in, Four to screw it up.

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.
Posted by glyde51 on Sat, 03 Dec 2005 01:37:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Gun registry = good
Public healthcare = good
Gay marriage = might as well, who cares
Kyoto Accord = good

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.
Posted by csskiller on Sun, 04 Dec 2005 22:05:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I personally don't know who to support on this one.

Wouldn't that be something if the Green party got in power lol

---

---

Subject: Re: Hooray for non confidence.
Posted by Aprime on Mon, 05 Dec 2005 05:10:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Green Party = Green Conservatives.
(yeah, oddly enough)

---