Whenever I open rengaurd I get the following message:

Buffer overrun detected!

Program: C:\westwood\Renegade\Game.exe

A buffer overrun has been detected which has corrupted the programs internal state. The program cannot continue execution and must now be terminated.

When I click ok, rengaurd closes and so I cannot open renegade, I dont know how to fix this, help would be greatly appreciated.

Thanks

1) did rengaurd work previously, or is this the first time you have installed it? If it worked before did you change anything?

2) what version of windows are you running?

1)It was working until I wiped my computer. Then I reinstalled Renegade along with Rengaurd, just started doing this for about a few months now.

2) Win 2000

Thanks

If you want to play renegade without RenGuard on, then open C:\westwood\renegade\game2.ex.

RenGuard 1.04 will be released soon that will fix the Buffer Overrun problem.

Renguard does not work on Win2000, so I assume you were using Win98 or WinXP before. You will just have to do as Ma1kel said and play with game2.exe until they release 1.04 which should work on Win2000 still waiting for the release...

I got tired of idiots who always type "Irg Alex" each time I kill them (especially when they stupidly stand still and wait for a headshot). I am a fair player and don't want to be banned only because a noob said that I'm a cheater... and i don't want to get back to that crappy WinXP from my Win2K...

We have many moderators so you might want to post a little nice message on our forums, just to make sure they all see it.

I had a system with Windows 2000 and I had the same problem. Try restarting renguard until it works properly. It worked for me but it took a good 5-15 mins to make it work. If you don't like waiting, use the advice above.
