Well, will you be playing good ol' Renny till 2010?

I think I will.

Not likely. But if Reborn is finished by then, then maybe .
By that time I will probably be playing Killzone 2 on PS3 quite often.

I know I will. Tribes has a large community still, and I think the game is lesser than Renegade is.

People have been thinking the game is dying for the last 4 years. I imagine people will still be saying that 4 years from now. There are still tens of thousands of players. I don't see myself going anywhere.

Well, with Reborn and APB and A New Hope, I think Renegade will run till the second decade (hopefully) 'cause Renny is the only game I am interested in right now and in the future.

Of course I will.

Actually, if EA releases C&C Renegade 2, and it doesn't suck, I may just abandon Renegade...maybe...

I don't like the Idea of reny or even C&C being 'dead', as I tend to keep hopes high for even (near)'lost' causes. Still i think it holds C&C in a negative light. Whenever I listen to my C&C tracks, or I rehears them in my hear during work I get the strongest urg to flip that disc in my PC again and I think that this it's incredible that after all this time C&C can still make u feel this way. So hell I'll probly be playing C&C till the day I die.

Untrue. I play the old Xcom games on my XP machine, and that game was made in the era of the 486.

Gotta love retro gaming. It seems that these old games will be around for quiet some time.

I still somewhat remember the old Cnc95 game for MSdos, It sucked. I much prefer it on Windows95.
