You know how it changes color when you target someone.

Could you have it change the image too?

So like normally its normal but when you target something it would say "Target locked" under it or something?

Cus that would be cool!

I don't know of anything like that yet, but I do know a site with a few good reticles to choose from. You can take your pick, until that particular mod surfaces, if you like.

I suggest this as a custom reticle. It actually looks like a reasonable set of cross-hairs!
