well first off all almost all the servers are running on a ssaow script most off the scripts can be activated bay using cp1 ore 2
like stealth crate if u got cp1 and ur enemy dosnt u think ur stealthed but for them ur not and shoot u dead u can also hear ingame music witch is way better then no music and for some reason cp1 users can hear the ob regarging and non cp1 users cant thats y it should be a must download to play online its yust more fun aint fair play btw if u want to have renegade u should be forced to have th program/cd/ w/e soi this is yust a part off the game

I can hear the ob charge fine.
I hate the music (If i want music I'll put in a CD)
I don't like annoying things above people's heads when they spam radio commands
I don't use the stupid kicking and punching movements on the numberpad
I think stealth crates are ridiculous and there were no intentions on making units randomly become stealthed (The sbh has a stealth suit, other characters do not)
I also don't use any of the maps.
I don't konw what else it does for servers or anything but as far as I can tell there really is no point for CP1/2 for me. At all. You want it? Fine, get it. The rest of us shouldn't have to if we decide not to.

ok what's this mean in English? and CP1/2 is not part of the game. Though i really can't bloody understand what you just said there besides, what's this have to dow ith xwis not caring. As far as I know, you can't make people download stuff as you join.(at least they don't have the power to) Put it this way: if you don't like it, then run your own server. Not to mention that there are plenty of servers that don't run various "balance-changing" things. All of the 'new' crates chances can be changed server-side. If the chance is zero, then you obviously will not be using it. But you will still be able to take advantage of faster map load times. If you don't want to use the karate kicks and shit, then don't use them. If you don't want the music, then set your game's music volume to 0. I did that long before CorePatch 2, because music is played during the single-player campaign and I didn't like it then, either. What is it that you don't like about the radio emoticons? I like them. They show you where someone is when they say something on the radio. They don't show up for the enemy team, so it won't reveal your position to them (eg, SBH or stank). If you don't like the servers using custom scripts, then don't play on servers with custom scripts. Personally, I think they're worth it just for the faster map load times and various map bug fixes. The faster map load times can earn you an extra 40 or 50 credits from the refinery trickle, which at the beginning of a game can make a hell of a lot of difference when multiplied by your whole team (especially with !donate and etc).

Because I usually load the same as everyone else? or 1-2 seconds behind? Like I said, everything else is just useless to me, I don't need it. The stealth crates make the game stupid for me because it doesn't "balance" anything more. Why would it, too? Because Nod can? This just in, but Nod pretty much has disadvantages with most maps. I don't like the stupid symbols that appear because it's pretty annoying. A guy says defend the base or defend whatever it's already specifying and most likely anyone who says enemy spotted (which really isn't even used anyways) I'd probably see the enemy. As for the maps, no, I haven't played them. Or at least most of them. Siege is an OK map but that's about the only one I like or enjoy playing. Though I don't have any maps right now

If I had the time and resources I would host a Renegade server. But I don't, so I won't.

It's not like I really boycott servers if they have modifications, I just would prefer if they didn't.

P.S. I am, in fact, entitled to an opinion. So fuck off.

what advantages that it has(besides the icons, music, new EVA sounds and fater loading times) at least partially affect the gameplay?

Well, it is sort of cool that a weapon drops when someone dies, but so far that is really the only game affecting thing that CP adds. The icons are too small to really be any useful, and the sounds that a building was repaired does not really help or add much.

The only reason I have installed CP is because I believe that it improves gameplay, somehow, and gameplay is the most important thing to make the game more fun.

On a presonal note, I really like the music, but I only know one server that has it.

The weapon drops can really change the outcome of a game. I recall one I played when we (GDI) had lost our Barracks and our War Factory and had to protect our Power Plant and Refinery from numerous stealth attacks. Our Engineers would kill a SBH with C4 or pistols and that would give us some great firepower for repelling other uncovered stealth units and especially the Apaches that gave us hell.

We still lost, but that's beside the point.

Too bad Mr Pirate is banned from most servers running pure mode...

Anyway, as long as the CP2 installation doesn't guarantee to work 100 % of the time for everyone, it shouldn't be done anyway.

CP1 and CP2 certainly have some advantages though. Most of the things you say you don't like are server side, not client side.

Why force people to download mappacks? That's idiotic. How about we force some cool skin packs while we are at it.

The only thing that should be forced is patch 1.037, nothing more. I don't use CP2, instead I only use jonwil's scripts and the keys.cfg.

If it's up to klote everybody needs to be forced downloading additional patches, ubermappacks, skins, sounds and shit to play normal Renegade online. Your name really describes yourself...

Ok, ok. Enough with the arguments already, please. I believe that everyone is entitled to their own opinion about the game, online resources and XWIS, but i don't believe that bickering over it will solve anything.

You don't necessarily have to use CP1 or 2 (i don't and i still use the faster loading scripts). I do like the music, although, players that don't can spend about 30 seconds of their time to turn it down in the options. The only requirement to play online is the updater 1.037 patch, that's it and i believe that if other people want to play other maps, they can dedicate their own time to downloading them and hosting non-dedicated server's to this matter.

Renegade is currently downloadable (from several sources and some P2P sources too) and there is a no-cd crack for it, so you no longer require to buy the disk. I believe that we should come together as a community and work things out. If XWIS can't be bothered to host for renegade anymore, that's their choice and we have no effect in that, but, we can still use our own minds and resources to keep the game running. I know a game's developer that went through 4 third party companies before they forgot about it and there is still a small community for that game after 7 years.

If you care about this game, even just a small amount, take this information into your heads and think about it, sensibly, please.

CP2 is nice, and I'm personally glad I got it, but it shouldn't at all be mandated. The same for map packs, though it would be nice to see more variety on servers.

Quite simply, if a person doesn't want something, they shouldn't NEED to get it. I want to play Renegade, therefore I have it. I want the faster load times, maps, etc. therefore I have them.

"hey wtf if u want to play renegade ull be FORCED to download/buy the game"

Of note is the fact that we HAVE Renegade already. Just because we had to buy/dl Renegade because we wanted to play it doesn't mean that we have to dl some mappack that we DON'T want.

And please, for the love of all that is, try and put a little more effort toward legibility.

I couldnt have said it better. I have been playing this game since the release and thats probably why I see it this way too.

like the game without modifications. I don't even use skins or reticles of any kind. (it's ok to use them for the change and to make a vehicle/character look nicer but some out there really give a advantage.) But the godcrate, stealth crate all that changing stuff. It just makes this game suck.

And yes I do stand open for new things. I have tried skins back in the days, I tried new maps/modifications.

But some people just like the game the way it is (true form)

I do play new maps. And then I notice that some maps are not really good for Renegade and some are. Therefore I think that new maps would be a nice add. If there was to be group to select the right maps. Because C&C Glacier (Bug wise) is worse then most fan maps out there and most servers don't have it in there rotation.

As for the loading time. If you have a 512MB ram this game will load in 1/3 sec. After the first map whichs loads slow. Most people now a days have 1024 some even more.. and with a 256MB it loading time is decent.

if you enjoy pure renegade then you might want to consider joining thekoss2 server, except for running a couple of fanmaps (siege and bunkersTS) its original renegade, and the pings are usually nice and low

I personally prefer renegade like that, although sometimes its nice to join a server with the extra stuff for something different

It's really hard for a server that hosts fanmaps to get those in the rotation as it is today. CP-maps works more or less but other maps...

We tried adding River Canyon and the server would go almost empty every time it showed up allthough we had an auto announcement and put it in the motd.

An obligatory map pack download could solve this but the real solution would be that player who are joining in automatically download the map for that server, just like it is done for other games. However, I suspect this isn't possible for Renegade, it would have been done otherwise.

Totally agree.

How about having a message when you logon offering players the chance to download a map pack ? It isn't something you would be forced to do. It would be ideal for those who do want the chance to play new maps and get the option when they logon Renegade to download them, like they do with the patch. For the rest who choose to play the same maps with no variation, and play them by choice, they get their wish too.

Totally agree.

How about having a message when you logon offering players the chance to download a map pack ? It isn't something you would be forced to do. It would be ideal for those who do want the chance to play new maps and get the option when they logon Renegade to download them, like they do with the patch. For the rest who choose to play the same maps with no variation, and play them by choice, they get their wish too.

I'm not sure if that would be practical with Westwood's (somewhat limited) update system. Offering the maps in the form of an "update" would probably be the best way to ensure everyone gets them.

Yeah a update with some new maps would be nice. Besides a map doesn't change the game it just add's something up. Like glacier flying its still up to the server owner to run the map or not. And I'm sure noone minds a new map.

The question is can XWIS get acces to those servers? And then you would need a team to test the maps. on the following.

- is it playable?

- Wil it be balanced

- not to big off a download

The maps in CP2 were tested and endorsed by BHS to be bugfree, balanced, and playable - as much as can be expected from a third party source anyhow. It is up to the server owners to adding them to their rotations or not.

from the technical side it is possible for xwis to force a download. What I don't know is what their agreement with EA allows them to do. But that would be a question for olaf who is as useless as a my cat for answering questions.
