Maybe you could take yourself outta life`? Do you get a e-penis for telling people their mistakes and shit?

On a other point, does the number seven on the end of your name mean anything or was you too stupid to think of a name yourself and decided to end it with a number.

No, I don't care either way. Notice how you flame the shit out of me for practically no reason. I don't care. As if some guy's opinion means anything to me. You probably did it for that reason, who knows. Do you get an e-penis for talking shit? All I basically said was that saying "get off the internet" or other stupid shit like that completely invalidates any opinion a guy makes. So go ahead and resort to insults, since that's about the only thing you'll have on me.

Oh, and de7 was me just hitting random keys. If I really cared, I'd try and find a name that was original. Something like yours

Is it really that difficult to grasp incredibly simple concepts such as "your/you're", "there/they're/their"?

Is it really THAT difficult to tpye those extra 5 letters so you don't look like a dumbass?

Or is it that you're just too bone-idle? Or that you enjoy being so incredibly apathetic? Maybe you just enjoy being part of an ever growing chain of trend-whore faggotory and think it's "cool" to type like a 5th grader

Please enlighten me...

The bloody hell are you talking about. This is the first time I've corrected someone in probably a year. and it wasn't even the direction of my post. I don't really care if a person makes a mistake. But if Troop is going to be a dumbass and be a dick, I have a right back at him. What makes you, me, or him any different, really? Apart from the intelligence level.. What I don't get, is why you're making a big deal out of it. Seriously, why do you care? I find it pathetic you do. In fact, let me piss you off more since it obviously makes you go in a frenzy.

You made a very large run on sentance.
who gives a *fuck*
English is capitalized

There, now go ranting at me because I corrected your spelling/grammar.

PS this makes it the second time in a year I've corrected someone's spelling on this forum. It's good to see you know what you're talking about. Seriously, don't go off on AircraftKiller, former DJM(whatever his name is now), and the "others" you were talking about.

Really, you don't sound stupid at all

PS: Troop, thanks for responding about your clan thread. Yup, pro.

Dumbass. Seriously, no other way to put it. Why don't you just shut up before you sound more stupid? I actually looked in your profile because I figured you'd be like 10 years old. I was disappointed when you didn't show it (Don't worry, I wouldn't either if I were you, especially if you aren't 10) By the way, don't you think it a bit hypocritical since every time I've posted you've responded? That's a rhetorical question, by the way. (it means it's not meant to be answered)

Number two, what the fuck does "e-penis" have to do with it? Do I feel good about myself for telling you you're a dumbass? No. But it sure is funny. Note, if you would actually read my posts (Which I know you did, since it's not like you had anything going on, so don't even try and act it) I said I've only corrected you and troop. You because you get so pissed off I actually enjoy it. You think you're cool you use stupid internet lingo and say "troll" forums and such? Wow, yeah, I'm impressed. Odd though, since I work 45 hours a week. What about you? Do you enjoy spending your time talking about people you've never met and their sexlife. As if you seriously knew anything about anyone's life, especially from 2 posts. In fact, I might go so far as to say the only thing you knew how to do was mash your keyboard with your thick skull and breathe. I wish you'd choke.

What can I even say? Yes, there are a few people on these boards who correct grammar rather obsessively, and yes, it is annoying (however, when attacking this behaviour, I'd recommend picking a target who consistently exhibits it, i.e. not De7).

As for intelligence not having anything to do with English usage:
Hopefully, a knowledgeable--if not intelligent--person would know the difference between, say, the words "your" and "you're." On a message board, such as this, a person is allowed to use any amount of time they please to construct a post. If someone knows a language and is provided with time to construct messages using it, one might expect the words in their messages to be used in a correct fashion. I don't really know why you wouldn't want to use words properly, anyway.

It doesn't bother me that much if people use words correctly or incorrectly; after all, I am still able to read and understand their messages. However, if using words correctly isn't a sign of intelligence, surely using them incorrectly is no better.

Tanya A. doesn't speak English as a first language and probably, just like me, learned most of its English from conversations over the Internet or at least practised it that way. Many of the people we speak with on the Internet learned/practised the same way. You cannot blame us for not having a superb grammar. Even the native English speaking people on the Internet make these mistakes when talking to us, which makes it even more difficult.

As to joining TK2: that's just because I'm sexy ^^.

As for intelligence not having anything to do with English usage:

Hopefully, a knowledgeable--if not intelligent--person would know the difference between, say, the words "your" and "you're." On a message board, such as this, a person is allowed to use any amount of time they please to construct a post. If someone knows a language and is provided with time to construct messages using it, one might expect the words in their messages to be used in a correct fashion. I don't really know why you wouldn't want to use words properly, anyway.

It doesn't bother me that much if people use words correctly or incorrectly; after all, I am still able to read and understand their messages. However, if using words correctly isn't a sign of intelligence, surely using them incorrectly is no better.

Intelligence is the ability to reason, plan, problem solving, think abstractly, comprehend ideas, quickly learn and learn from experience... not the ability to use perfect English grammar.

A person may choose to use short hand or broken English, when they feel like it, as its their freedom or they might be lazy.

This is how language evolves, you think we be using English as we do today in the next 500 years or more? It would had changed.

On the other point, there is nothing wrong with helping people with their English, but its the way some users do it here thats the problem, its rude and desrepectable aswell as being bad manners, if they did it in a polite way, then there wouldnt be a problem.

I don't think I was calling anyone dumb because they couldn't spell. Maybe you're thinking of someone else. I said it was stupid to say that I correct people's grammar all day long, when I just said (for the third time in this thread) That I've only done it it three times about this past year, and in fact, it's all in one thread (here). Why would you

1. Talk shit to me when Dave Mason(DJM), AircraftKiller, and whoever else you think correct people's grammar, do it WAAAAAAAAAAAAAY more than me?
2. Say that I haven't a life when I obviously don't correct peoples grammar (see above)
3. START arguments after the *first* time i've corrected someone else in over a year.
4. I could probably go on but you get the idea and that's enough.

So do you see why someone might think you not intelligent if a guy specifically states he doesn't correct others peoples grammar over and over and yet you continue to say it? Also the fact that you argue with the wrong people and haven't stopped even though your anger should be pointed at the people I've already stated. I don't usually correct other peoples grammar at all, I only did it to troop because he's a fucking moron and an asshole. I know there are foreign people here and I don't care if they don't talk english perfectly as long as I'm able to read it. Your/you're are the most common misspellings, so I'm not going to correct an easy mistake. Then again, I don't see why people get bothered on the internet at all.

I'll ask again, is it THAT difficult to understand the difference between "you're" and "your"?

Simple yes or no answer...

Hi Tanya. Congrats on making it into TK2. Keep up the posts, even though these fart nuggets seem to care more about correcting everyone's grammar and insulting each other than making a semi-productive post.

I think Crimson's attackers have moved in house.

P.S. high Tonya, welcome!

Sorry, I really didn't read your thread as the bike riding bothers me.

The post I made above is not in reference to you.

Indeed,

Well after re-reading the topic and the posts, I was in the wrong to flame you, so for that and what I have said, please accept my apology.
