I know that there already are lots of renegade forums on the web, but since they are mostly connected to (a) server('s) (ltroush, gamerz0ne, etc.) or clan, I created a forum for all renegade fans to come and share anything!

So come in, register, post and have fun.

mvr.ipforum.com

The only renegade forum u need!

Also there are mod slots open atm so post an application if u want to be one!

If you actually knew what you were doing I still wouldn't consider joining...

1st of all, you posted on a site that already serves the same purpose your going for.

2nd this site is way older, stable and reliable

3rd you have free hosting and don't even know how to make a link...

4th I doubt you even know what HTML is.

5th you're using a free template...

I could go on and on but I have better things to do, thought I would be nice enough to point those out though.

Goodluck.

try adding http://

As for your forums, they are using the old template EoE had, which isn't bad, but the blatant ads at the top put me right off.

Your not going to find many people here looking to join another forum, most of us are registered on plenty already.
