Maybe its got long term effects? never know, he could drop dead tomorrow or leave him drooling at the mouth in a fit on the floor.

I prefer the later.

Oooh, then just imagine if his dog found him, though I doubt it'd like him much... Ooh, even better... Y'know, they almost always go for the weakest spot on whatever they're attacking? South or North, it'll hurt either way.

I think he is talking about the box art.

I think these people are the creators of the game or like you said, just random people.

I always thought they were just representing a single soldier, not anyone of importance.

It takes fifteen replies for someone to post something on-topic. Kind of sad really. It used to be a lot better.

I think it's probably some random person they perhaps had auditions for or something.
