Dear Crimson,

I'm writing on behalf of the community to ask you to resign renforums to people who care, and generally have time to devote to the wellbeing of Renegade.

Crimson, what are you doing to better the forums? New moderators are nonexistent (just like the current moderating staff), the mission of the forums has faded, and you are hardly posting here. Have you noticed that the administration here is closely paralleling the admin situation that existed in the Westwood Renforums? Or are you never here enough to notice?

Take a moment and read the topics in your forums. They lack any kind of direction/unity. This is because interest in renegade is dying. Maybe so many communities wouldn't fail if you supported the community in the caliber you claim to. This involves actually updating your projects. When was the last time BHS made any critical or useful updates to the game? Actually...

Where were you when EA once again screwed the honest WOL user by choosing XWIS over your supposedly working WOL clone? Did you not care enough to convince Mike Verdu that n00bstories had the capacity and honesty to run WOL? Knowing that so many technically capable, motivated n00bstories members would help you run it.

Where were you when your real followers tried time and time again to help you, but you just discarded them?

You have the power, Crimson, not us. Resign, because you obviously can't represent the little guy. You don't care enough to correctly maintain the little guy's forums. Just throw the towel in, Christine.

There are SO many alternatives to WOL. But you're too much of an idiot to know that, because you're just an op from IRC.

First being WU. WU was created by WSE, yes, Westwood Exposed. They were the first to offer an alternative to WOL, way back in 2002 when VTed started winding things down (firing Sherry, setting +m in all channels). This never got off the ground, because Revolt and Ty got in a fight.

Second being CNCR. This EXISTED and was ran by Revolt, England, Kholdstare, Epyon and others and hosted by Edexcel.

Heres the ones that never made it online:

ApaxTeam - x210 created many WOL clones and used Revolts. This never took off because of financial problems, and x210's lack of dedication.

GNOL/TSWOS - Me and semanuk's project to create a Delphi WOL clone with full support for battleclans. It never made it online because our server provider got tired of waiting for us.

REOL - Developed by Scorpio9a. Functioning. Never stayed online because nobody cared enough. This is the version Crimson was supposedly ready to use.

Here are some currently developed WOL clones

FSGS - Not under development anymore
PvPGN - Full support for every WOL game except Renegade pyWOL - Actively developed Python WOL clone.

Dont even start with me about "there was no alternative". There was no reason, other than Crimson's apathy, that XWIS should have been selected as the successor to WOL.

As for the updates, I'm talking about something other than maintainance that can give the community a reason to exist.

I agree with the renewing of the moderators, ive been waiting around for years for that to open.

The current ones are barely around, and there is plenty of trash that needs to be thrown out. Just look at the Silo, it still has that Dead Five post on top and there has been plenty of "grain" worthy topics since then.

I'm aware of the WOL clones, but how many people are willing to and have the capacity to support those? Not to mention XWIS had already been supporting other C&C games for a few years.

I find it incredibly hard to believe that EA would have ran around having "try-outs" looking for the best candidate to take over WOL, of all things. You know, since they care so much about it. If the deal with XWIS didn't work out, WOL probably would of reverted back to being ran by EA, or more likely would have just been shut down altogether.

Maybe you've been gone too long, but last time I checked jadame has absolutely nothing to do with renforums, renguard, WOL, or BHS. He's an IRCop on the network of a friend.

Yes, because everyone KNOWS that people won't, heaven forbid, talk about DIFFERENT TOPICS. I mean, seriously! It's not like we can post multiple discussions anyway, much less in categorized subforums!

I fail to see what is so horrible about XWIS. I connect and play games just like WOL. XWIS > Nil, as said before, as well.

Again, what is so utterly horrid about XWIS? I'm pretty sure it's running.

You have to have dedication to run a community.

Because she obviously doesn't need "care" or "dedication" to spend from her own pocket to keep the community running.

And even if she DID resign, who, pray tell, do you nominate to replace her?

And I fail to see what a single IRCop has to do with the entire community. Are we all one big chatroom? I think not. Last I checked, IRCops managed IRC.

It said in my post that Crimson's true loyal followers could have easily helped her with it, instead of just looking at her channel ops, like you.

The only reason Olaf got WOL is because he bugged the shit out of EA. The transition was all his idea, otherwise, WOL would have just sat there until it got terminated by EALA, just like Earth and Beyond. The reason he got it is because HE CARED ENOUGH TO ASK AHEAD OF TIME.

You have no idea how many times people, who have supported her since late 2002, have been disregarded.

If she did resign, I'd say whoever gets a forum up faster will be the new community leader, just like everything else.

The IRCop's attitude reflects Crimson's idea of administration. Have some random, power abusing people who have nothing to do with the Renegade community, step right in, write rules, manage and run a place they have no real connection with.

I'm pretty sure that includes yourself. You are the one who came back here and tried to belittle the administration in a poor attempt to promote your own ideas.

I can't think of any reason people should even be listening to you. You stormed out of this community in a whining rage a couple years ago, and have had little to do with it since. What position are you in exactly to suddenly decide what is best for the whole?

I can't belittle what doesn't exist.

Quote:I can't think of any reason people should even be listening to you.
I was hoping maybe the "laypeople" of the community, mainly because people like you, in an administrative position, see nothing wrong with what's going on.

Sometimes I feel like I'm the only one who cares about the wellbeing of the Westwood fans, because everyone else is just passive.

I read these forums several times a day. Just because I don't post in the general threads doesn't mean I'm not here. I still have TONS of dedication to this community.

Remember, n00bstories doesn't run anything. The entity that I am a part of that is dedicated solely to Renegade is Blackhand Studios. If you think we're not doing anything, I might remind you that jonwil released scripts.dll 2.8 TWO DAYS AGO.

As for the rest of things, you have no idea what conversations have transpired between the person I talk to at EA (who is, incidentally, NOT Mike Verdu) and myself. Things move slowly at EA and I do not release information about things that may or may not happen until I have permission from them.

As it stands now, I actively use administrative access with XWIS to keep things in line. I also run one of the most popular servers in the game, serving out 2 terabytes each month.

I am still as dedicated as ever to this community and it's pure insanity for anyone to think otherwise. Just because I don't always participate in the day-to-day "post your desktop" threads and such doesn't mean that I don't care or that I'm not paying attention. This is a GENERAL forum. Not to mention the silent storm YSLMuffins who has been diligently keeping the Mod forum in line for a couple of years now, and warrant0 who visits here several times daily as well.

Amanda, aka Jadame Tamuli, is not a part of the Renegade community. He is a fan of older Westwood games and I met him in the old #ww channel several years ago. His maturity and knowledge with IRC and mIRC earned him op, then oper status on the n00bstories network. Since n00bstories.com is a site for gamers in ALL online games, not just Renegade, there is no need for him to be even remotely interested in the game for him to be a great fit for his position.

BHS runs things for Renegade, and BHS helps administrate XWIS Renegade. NOT n00bstories. Just because I am part of both doesn't make it true.

I generally believe that if it isn't broke, don't fix it. While not everything at XWIS is running exactly as I would do it, I don't think the difference are enough to justify any sort of revolt against them. The servers are VERY stable, the ban tools work quite well, and Olaf and DonCarlo are very quick to respond to my emails if I have any problems. I can't ask for much more than that. Furthermore, all of the people YOU mentioned are current or ex script kiddies who could never be trusted with serials and IPs of players.

To everyone else: I appreciate your support. Though normally on a Saturday I get the luxury of sitting at my computer for several hours, my mom is in town staying at my house with her three younger kids, one of which just had a birthday on Thursday. So, I have spent most of the day in my pool and eating barbecued steak.

I think you're confusing things here.

The staff of n00bstories have one purpose: administrate and moderate n00bstories. that's it. we don't need to know much anything about the inner workings of communities, we just make sure people like you don't get far with your idiocy.

Crimson can run mulitple organizations without each member knowing everything the others do. My boss at work has two other corporations he owns, runs all three. I don't know shit about the other two, except that they're doing well.

So it doesn't really seem to matter.

If you are so well informed as you say, than you must have another username on this forum. Why than did you not post using your real name?

I have been here for quite awhile, following things passively long before I registered, and I have had no complaints regarding her servers or these forums. As far as I am concerned, the BHS team has kept Renegade running, and unless some other group comes foward showing any care or effort towards Renegade, you should keep quiet or take up your issues with Crimson personally.

Thank You Crimson for everything you have done for Renegade and the community.

The only gripe I can bring to mind is neither XWIS nor RenegadeCommunity.com have, or have ever had, anything in the way of clan support for Renegade. I'm just saying, I've brought up a suggestion which will benefit everyone and be of detriment to no-one, and it seems to have fallen on deaf ears. On the ears of Electronic Arts, however, it's resulted in our league being sponsored with hundreds of dollars' worth of prizes, which I think is food for thought for all the EA-haters on this forum who claim they don't support the older games.

Renegadecommunity.com support will probably rise to a 1000-fold of what it is now in a couple of days/weeks. Stay tuned...

As to this thread: the only thing I miss at the moment are regular updates on Renguard.

For the remaining we got:

- Core Patch 1 and 2;
- scripts version 10800;
- an active community forum where some people actually help others and a bunch of idiots come together to flame eachother but still the persons helping others make it all worthy;
- renegadewiki;
- renegadecommunity.com which is unsupported atm but should get the support it deserves very soon;
- Xwis running WOL the best it can. Allthough I cannot understand they still haven't put Renegade in their forum title and apparently can't find a solution to the problems with serials, I do agree that they function quite nicely;

- A new Brenbot version in the making, although not by a BHS member;

- ...

So all in all, I don't think we're doing that badly. Moreover, I usually have a quick answer on my PM's from Crimson.

First, luv2pb, you are a person in an administrative position and your opinion should just be disregarded because you're blinded from what the common player sees.

luv2pb wrote on Sun, 25 June 2006 11:20I don't allow fucktards to speak for me. You being a fucktard please do not speak for me, ever.
Use your brain and look at the big picture instead of criticizing me.

You forget one simple thing. Crimson is a PERSON who has a life and a job that pays her. She does not receive a pay check from this community, as a matter of fact to have a great server to play on and Renguard to keep all servers cheat free she goes in the red month after month after month. A total number that astounds me every time.
What does that have to do with anything? I go on the red every month and so does everyone else with a credit card.

Quote:

Regardless of everything even if I did agree with you and want Crimson gone who would replace her? There is not a single person worthy of the job nor a person who has the $ to support it. Who are YOU to speak for everyone. How can you even judge something like that? Look at all the people that post here every day, volunteer to help, and generally give a fuck. I'm talking about the people who put politics aside and do what's best for the game. Spending money on a stupid FDS does nothing for the community. Why doesn't she spend time FIXING things that are important to the community.

Any how many people do you think would trust someone who was a "script kiddie" in either the past or the present be trusted with passwords or ip addresses?

Crimson has a social life, she works for the servers she has. She supports the Renegade community in every-way possible. Just look at RenGuard, all the server their are run and owned by Crimson.

Crimson isn't jonwil BUT jonwil is helping to develop Renegade and fix existing bugs and if possible, add new features. NOT everyone is good at everything! We all have our own strengths and weaknesses.

EA have never been efficient, it is unfair to blame Crimson about the slowness. Have you ever tried to send in a support ticket? Mine normally take at least 2 days to get answered, and still mostly the solution isn't correct!

XWIS was chosen by EA. BHS may have had little input but with the ONLY server for Westwood games that has been running for a long time now, so it is the best choice. They have managed to survive even when WOL was around.

Crimson is an active moderator, I see her on the current users on-line section almost every day. Although she does NOT post every day, I don't expect her, like me, she has a social life.

IF YOU DON'T LIKE IT, GO AWAY!

Again, you have forgotten that the reason WOL died is because Olaf convinced EA that he could run it. Had Crimson cared, she would have looked beyond her stupid game server and become concerned in the future of WOL. Instead she was just apathetic about the whole thing and decided "Oh well" knowing that she and the PEOPLE WHO ARE KNOWLEDGEABLE about WOL would have easily ran WOL better than Olaf.

I know what Crimson, n00bstories, BHS, strike-team, ect are working on and doing to better Rengeade. But what I do not know is who you are and why you think you have the slightest clue what is going on around you.

You may go in the red yes, but not for this game you don't. Or let me guess your next story is that you either run or have ran a server in the past?

Crimson herself is NOT a script kiddie, although others near her could be. If I am wrong, please prove it.

Apgar has recently been cracked by a member of the BHS team.

Its not about Olaf anyways.

- They found Revolt's Apgar source code from Silent_Kane, who got it from somebody else.
- Its a one way hash and cant be reversed.
- The only thing they cracked was woldata.key which is used to scramble/unscramble your serial number.

Just to clarify, Apgar is a relatively weak and proprietary encryption method from what I've seen. One solution would be to take the Apgar password the client sends when logging onto WOL and store it in an MD5 hash. This doesn't really address the possibility of overzealous administrators sniffing what the clients are sending or modifying the source to log the Apgar password the client sends, but it's a start.

To be honest, I do trust that Crimson has dedicated towards the community, but there has been no evidences of it.

The forums have been a little too forgiving with spam, trolling, and flaming. There needs to be more moderation and clean this up. It has no organization and pisses most of the members off when they see the endless amounts of flaming.

Crimson says that she's working on stuff behind the scenes with EA and other advances, and her administration backs her up on that. I can't say that I completely trust this. I can't exactly accuse Crimson of lying, because I have no reason to believe that, but I see no evidences in any advances. Now, I'm not saying that any confidential information with EA should be released. It's confidential for a reason, and if she was to release it, she could very well compromise her attempts to further Renegade and the community.

All I want is to be assured that the community is being pushed forward. Someone's word, to me, isn't good enough regardless of the sincerity and respect of the person in question.

I'm assuming your log was posted to show what a bad person Crimson is for condoning your plan to take out Xwis? She was doing it so that Renegade players could get the best gaming experience possible. It reminds me of the teamsters. Sure they operated and to this day sometimes operate outside the law but for the people who count on them, they come through. They defend their workers and take the power out of employers hands to screw over whoever they want.

Also, you established this post on the banner that Crimson should step down because she sat idle and did nothing when EA choose to turn over WOL. Are you mad because the leader of a large community didn't decide to go personally kill Olaf a la Clue (In the _____ with the _____)? Your log shows how many things Crimson was doing and looking into and people she was talking to trying to fix things, but it just obviously didn't work.

What makes her any different than you or I Doitle.

The only reason she has any say in things is because people like you and I support her by posting on these forums.

My point is, the common man should have a say. Seeing that she is the head of the C&C community, whether she'll admit it or not, she disregards our concerns for WOL and does virtually nothing to reiterate our concerns.

What makes her different is she knows people and how to get things done. I don't know anyone from EA. She runs the community, she knows what everyone's trying to do. She also has the drive and give-a-damn that allows her to actually host servers and run a forum. I couldn't do any of this because:

- A. I don't have any money at all, I'm poor and I couldn't afford 1000$ plus a month on bandwidth for community sites and servers.
- B. I don't have the drive, I would just sit back and say it's too bad there's no community anymore... I wouldn't go create one.
- C. I can't deal with people. No I don't mean "ZOMG A PERSON AHHHH" I mean that I can't make people work. Someone attacked the community and I'd keep giving them second and third and fourth chances because I'm too nice and feel guilty about everything.

That's what makes her different, and what has allowed this community to even exist. People like her have to be in charge and people like me have to post pictures of subwoofers in General Discussion.

In my opinion, XWIS is not solution, we need clan support, individual rankings and so on. Do we have that?

No, just a server listing.

Gamespy does that. Might as well just shut down XWIS if its only going to do that.

I can see why everyone is frustrated..we have been hearing about Renguard 1.04 for bloody ages now and seen nothing, a lot of servers no longer look for RG as proof of non-cheating etc. They just ban you.

We need solutions, and quickly. Renegade is dying on its feet and i'm sick of finding clans to play nowadays.(Would rather just look at a ladder than trawling through one site to find another to challenge people. Lazy i know.)

Or do you want the logs to prove everything.

Both of these things are evident and not hidden. BRenBot has used a native implementation of the renrem protocol for quite a while, and v00d00 released a small app to fix your serial storage for TFD players using his knowledge (I believe Scorp and SK were the first to crack woldata.key). We didn't hide this from you.

Next, do NOT post private conversations. After that conversation, I exchanged some emails with Olaf and DonCarlo and found out that my previous knowledge of them was flawed. I now stand corrected. They have done nothing to make me feel that we can't trust them. While I do still contend that they don't care as much about Renegade as the other games, having BHS being administrators for the Renegade section of their servers is a great compromise that has worked very well.

I'm VERY sorry that I can't share what we're working on with EA. I wish I could show you all the emails exchanged with stuff we're working on. There is a person there who is paid specifically to care about the older C&C games and with TFD out, it opens budget dollars to support these older games.

Next, if someone would propose a full solution to "clean up" these forums, I am ALWAYS all ears. Power abuse is always my primary concern and very few people, it seems, can have such power and wield it properly. I am not generally a fan of ostracizing a community member just because they are sometimes dumb.

RenegadeCommunity.com is not an idea I jumped on like it was the best idea in the world. If I indeed thought it was such a great idea, I would have done a lot of the work myself. However, I did think it was a decent idea and one I would be glad to host. I have let Renardin do most of the work. I'm pretty sure at this point there are a LOT of pages not even close to done so anything you want to say about the site is probably true because it's NOT finished.

You know, I really wish that we could tell you everything that's going on with RG 1.04 as well. The problem is, the cheaters are everywhere, and if you follow all the cheater forums like we do, you would see that any time we post anything about RenGuard, it appears over there within an hour. Our responsibility is to keep cheaters out of the servers that have trusted us to do so, and at this point our best option is not to release any information about what's going on. Remember, I run a server and I play almost every day. I see cheaters all the time. I'm not going to forget about them.

I find it quite hypocritical that "null" is complaining that I don't have any/enough "staff" to do anything and then complains because so many of the people who have been replying are "staff" of some kind.

As it has been mentioned several times, I do have a life. I do spend quite a bit of time with assorted community-related matters but mostly I have to prioritize and compromise. Yes, maybe we all would have liked to see BHS run WOL, and in fact I had sent a long proposal to EA about us helping them fix bugs in WOL and help keep it in line, but they replied and told me that they were in the process of transitioning it to Olaf. We talked about several options in BHS and even offered to "try out" as an alternative option, but in the end we decided that our software wasn't ready to be mainstream in a quick enough amount of time compared to Olaf's software which was already stress-tested and in operation for a while, so we compromised and were given the ability to help run it. To date, we have placed over 40 bans on floodbots and lobby spammers. Having BHS make a WOL clone would use the resources of people whose time is better served towards RenGuard improvements. Once v00d00 is done with finals, I will find out where his current work stands (he was working on a lot of neat stuff right before finals) and what is safe to tell you guys (and essentially, the cheaters). At that time, I will let you know what he's been working on.

There have been and always will be people who will try to smear my reputation, but in the end, the truth will prevail. I have too much pride to give up on anything I promise, so I am generally careful not to promise things if we can't deliver.

Thanks again to all of you who support us and stand by us. Most of you know my door is always open and you are free to contact me by forum PM, email, or IRC msg if you have any concerns or ideas.

Most of the complaints about a ban anymore is because of ban evasion. I wouldn't support the banning of Sensitive if it wasn't painfully obvious that he has ban evaded and is being allowed to do so. Usually, ban evasion is an automatic permanent ban, and that's where most of this ban Sensitive is coming from. As for the rest of the forums, there is no "Off Topic" forum, which I think would cut down on a lot of spam. All we have is the "General Discussion" which, as the description points out, is for "General discussion of Command & Conquer Renegade". If we could get an Off Topic forum, I imagine that would help out a little.

Fine then if you're so great why dont you do this

- a) Tell EA that XWIS needs a CLEAR and definate website that explains to the common, off the shelf WOL user what XWIS is.
 - b) Eliminate the difference between Striketeam and XWIS.
 - c) Eliminate Striketeam's tacky and pathetic popup ads.
 - d) Consolidate BHS and striketeam.

Why the fuck would she do that?

- a) It's not her responsibility for what EA requires of Olaf and Strike-Team.
 - b) That's not her place to do that... she doesn't control either.
 - c) That's Strike-Team's issues, not hers. It's not even hosted by her.
 - d) BHS is strictly for Renegade. Merging would only cause issues. They should be allowed to operate separately. It'd be pointless for the two to join together.

I don't appreciate ads on their site, either, but there's nothing I can do about it. I don't see what a merger would accomplish. We have very different goals and focuses, so I don't see any advantages to even proposing such a thing.

I don't have any kind of problem with Crim. She started being kind of rude about a month after I got here, but then I thought about it... can you blame her? Life is hard enough, but she has to babysit 5,000 special-eds while breaking up fights between the handful of competent human beings. Not too many of us can juggle as many sites as she does at once... let alone afford it. BHS doesn't sound easy to deal with, either. So what if she's not always on her own forum? If anything, you should take a break. Go watch Cars.

Crimson, this is the perfect exemple of how the idiots on these forums fuck over intresting treats. They start flaming eachother for over one page. This is an exemple of where clearing out this treat would be helpful. I'm sure you could find some trusted moderators, though it might take some time. Maybe you should look for people who have some previous moderating experience (on other forums or such) and who most of all are active.

Other than that null just proved he want to take Xwis down in an illegal matter, making everything he says here being nill in my eyes. OK, Crimson condoned it and I'm sure she regretted it afterwards but Null is in no position at all to blame her for anything, considering this.

I also wonder: what happened so you wanted to post this? Because it seemed you were pretty good friends with Crimson back then but something changed?

Everything can be done better and somewhere in this 6 pages long treat have been some useful comments. Crimson, I propose you try to filter them from the bullshit and then try to take them in account .

null wrote on Sun, 25 June 2006 18:36I seriously doubt that because Clanwars.cc cant be access by any Westwood game client. Rendering it just a third party ladder, no different than any other game ladder.

This was my statement:

MaidenTy1 wrote:Clanwars.cc currently has better clan support for Renegade than anything XWIS or BHS could ever hope to create... not that I've seen any signs of them trying to in the last year or so.

When it happens, I'll admit I'm wrong. Until it happens, if it ever does, I'm right. Sorry.

Since I became a Clanwars.cc staff member (summer 2005?) there hasn't been a two-day stretch where our league wasn't being constantly supported, constantly evolving to the needs of Renegade in regards to clan support. On the other hand, since October 2005, the "official" Renegade ladder has had, wait for it, nothing. No one overseeing it at all, not to mention the fact it doesn't even work.

I posed this question about the "official" Renegade ladder.

"Let's say I played a clanwar on the "official" league. What are the rules? What if someone breaks them, or outright cheats against me? How would I report that, and who to? Could I get the game removed/fixed? Would they receive a penalty?"

It's been nearly three weeks and nobody seems able to answer it. You've got a choice between a league run by professionals, constantly updating and improving, and sponsored by EA.... or nothing. I'm sorry, but choosing the nothing is madness. Again, I invite anybody here to prove me wrong about this: show me a Renegade ladder that's a quarter as good as Clanwars.cc's, let alone better.

Your thread is basically about how the most competent/suitable people should handle Renegade. Well, speaking of Renegade's clan support, we at Clanwars.cc are not only the most competent and suitable people, we're also the only people, and for the third time let me say I'd love to be proved wrong on that point.

All we need is Crimson to be more active as well as the moderators. A topic to ban Sensitive was made (for ban evading), and I only saw the results a while after.

The entire General Discussions seem to be a flame feast. For example: Remember its Nod, NOT NOD. Its a pointless post and the newcomers get flamed for it.
eg:

"Remember, it's useless grammar usage, not uslez gramr uzuge."

"Remember, it's grammar, not spelling."

Is there any point to these posts? No.

Also, the amount of times a forum goes off-topic from what it was originally is enormous. The only forum that is really controlled is the mod forum, though even that recently is being to change.

eg:

The C&C Far-cry topic, the topic goes off by someone posting "rectum".

I remember when I first joined, it was a nice welcoming community with open arms, now closed.

I don't see how that, of all things, causes an issue. It is a simple correction... especially since this game revolves around GDI and Nod (not NOD). It's the same as people correcting someone for thinking GDI means Global Defection Interference. Are you going to just sit there and be like "oh well, I don't want to flame him for it, so I'll just sit idly as this newcomer shows no previous knowledge of C&C and continues to be left in the dark about it"? Most of the time it's not an initial flame to correct the person...

Plus, on most other spelling corrections, if people don't want to be corrected, they can click on the damn Spell-check Message button right there next to the Submit button.

I most surely do . I just want to give a profile exemple. What you basically need is active moderators. It's like serevr moderating: if they aren't there, they can't mod.

Just split all treats where people start with the NOD - Nod stuff into one big treat and people will understand that what they have said has been said 500 times before and will eventually stop it. Well, I hope . It must be very frustrating for people with problems to see that their problem doesn't get solved because of the useless spam :-S.

Take a moment and read the topics in your forums. They lack any kind of direction/unity. This is because interest in renegade is dying. Maybe so many communities wouldn't fail if you supported the community in the caliber you claim to. This involves actually updating your projects. When was the last time BHS made any critical or useful updates to the game? Actually...

imho bhs do not need to release anything new ... i like renegade the way it is atm ... the way it is on the black-cell.net servers to be exact.

sure they done good things ... but well i dont need more atm, i get regular updates at the BC servers ... new features every once in a while im so glad ea passed the resposibility to the xwis team ... they give much more support than ea ... they responde to user questions, feedback, suggestions and they are doing a good job.

Where were you when EA once again screwed the honest WOL user by choosing XWIS over your supposedly working WOL clone? Did you not care enough to convince Mike Verdu that n00bstories had the capacity and honesty to run WOL? Knowing that so many technically capible, motivated n00bstories members would help you run it.

they already added a couple of features ... the "ghost" kick is just 1 example and imho it would be more than horrible to have the noobstories in response for wol ...

I don't know Crimson, but I am aware of her and what she has done for our community - anyone who puts as much work/money in for the good of the community does not deserve this barrage of abuse imo. Would just like to say thanks to everyone who puts something positive into this community and help keep it alive for people who still care.

I come to these forums quite simply because they are a place full of free speech - no clan protection/swear filters and all that crap, there is not point in taking anything too seriously around here because half the people are just trying to make themselves look clever - that doesn't bother me, most of it just cracks me up.

Would support the addition of a few mods and would support Gozy being one, has to be one of the most calm, level headed and knowledgable people I have met here and he seems to be here pretty much 24/7.

Although I admint there not the 2 most active organization as they could be, BHS has done wayyyyy more for this community than clanwars.cc can even dream about accomplishing.

Still, BHS != n00bstories. You can bitch about the n00bstories ops all you want, but that still doesn't change the fact that they have NOTHING to do with Renegade and XWIS. If XWIS was to relinquish their support for Renegade, BHS would (attempt to) take over it... not n00bstories.

You are way off here:

BHS Staff:

mac - Halfop in IRC but never uses it. No moderator access in n00bstories Renegade server, no moderator/admin access in n00bstories forums.

Crimson - Me.

Blazer - To be fair, since he is my boyfriend and lives with me, he is obviously involved in both sites, though I wouldn't say he uses his acces much (luv2pb can verify this).

Scorpio9a - not a staff member (but he was helping with coding for a short time), doesn't visit #n00bstories IRC channel jonwil - Is not and has never been a staff member of n00bstories.

Silent Kane - Op in IRC, moderator in server.
inetknight - Halfop in IRC, sometimes get temp-mod in server.
v00d00 - Is not and has never been a staff member of n00bstories.

So, out of 8 current active members, we have 3 legitimate overlaps (Me, Blazer, and SK).

Out of the n00bstories staff (I'm only counting server admins and site moderators/admins), we have...

Site Admins

Crimson - Me

Blazer - BHS director

Javaxcx - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

Aurora - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

Espion - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

Server Admins

luv2pb - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

Havocide3 - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

try_lee - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

warranto - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

Gizbotvas - Is not and has never been a part of BHS flipdis - Is not and has never been a part of BHS jarhead57 - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

spotelmo - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

Operators in #n00bstories

Ice - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

Aircraftkiller - Was a part of BHS for a short time, but we know how that worked out

Jadame_Tamuli - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

Silent_Kane - Is a member of BHS

Doitle - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

JeffLee67 - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

HTMLGOD - Is not and has never been a part of BHS

So 3 overlaps out of 20 staff members.

Sure, guys, I can see why you'd think n00bstories and BHS are the same thing. Those 3 overlaps are really convincing, especially since one of them is my boyfriend!

Spoony was asking for clan support.. not anything more than that. He's not trying to put clanwars.cc in competition with BHS by saying its better to handle WOL or anything like that.. Right now, there is NOTHING and NOONE with a good ladder giving clan support for Renegade besides clanwars.cc. At clanwars.cc they have people whose jobs are specifically for maintaining the league, while with the WOL/XWIS clan ladder there is almost no support for the ladder. I think that you misunderstood their posts and should read them again.. I've seen Spoony make numerous topics about the league and almost all of them seem to have been ignored..

OR, it could be a couple of other reasons.

I do believe that all the moderators work, and don't have the time or ability to babysit the forums.

or

There is no reason to lock a forum after the first person detracts from the main topic. Most die out within a few days, or it takes a few days for the person to respond, for whatever the reason.

If people are willing to discuss this, then there should be no reason (based on this idea alone) as to why it should be locked.

"null" may be attacking the forum administration et al., but that simple fact by itself is no reason to lock it, or it would have been done as soon as it was open. "null" has done nothing, yet, to warrant this being locked. There has not been enough detracting from the main topic (excessive spam, perhaps, but it relates to the topic being discussed) and as such, there is no real valid point to lock it other than a few of you desiring it to be locked.

Null, for this to be effective you need some meat to the argument prior to the call to action. Because your previous methods have proved unsuccessful we have nothing to follow. Your call to action is to dispose Crimson and allow "someone who cares more" to take over. Our reason to take you up on your call is... ? That your name is null? The persuasive argument requires you to introduce us to the topic, give us logical reasons and evidence in the middle, and at the end tell us what we should do and "call" us to do it. In these 8 pages though the middle has disappeared. You can't expect to see anything happen without persuading us to believe your conclusion.

I posted a PM log containing Crimson and I planning to take down XWIS in an effort to make BHS look good, but that was removed because she felt it wasn't right that I posted it.

What I said was that your reasons given dissolved. We all saw the log, and contrary to your hopes, we all didn't jump onboard and demand Crimson to step down. You need to choose another angle or accept defeat. Slandering Crimson won't gain you any followers here. That may work somewhere full of "Crimson-haters" but not on a board that wouldn't exist without her in a community she built for us.

Well, I read the log and I was like "Null attacks servers" and was like "Let's see what Crimson has to say about her condoning this". Then I read Crimson's replies and all went pretty clear to me and I understand her incorrect but human reaction at the moment.

However, I haven't seen you apologise to Xwis for actively getting script kiddies to attack Xwis at the time.

I also note that you have no alternative at all to give. As Dotile stated you need to:

1. Prove the existing isn't good -> hasn't really been done, except for some mud throwing but you haven't actually shown that this community is better off without Crimson in the lead
2. Give a worthy alternative -> haven't seen any. Who could take over?

What you have done is start a discussion where some side elements did draw the attention of some people who ask those side elements to be solved so Crimson (not someone else) can better these forums, namely more moderators, ...

I don't think this topic needs closing, most topics don't need closing. What it needs is a split of spamposts to a split topic.

null, when you trim the bullshit off what you say, you get this:

null, with the bullshit trimmedCrimson isn't a good community leader, because she doesn't do enough for the community, ignoring the fact that she already dedicates an enormous amount of time and money while still managing to have a life. XWIS is a terrible, no good, very bad WOL clone, because it has no support for "BattleClans", ignoring the fact that the servers are stable and the bantools work well. I have alternatives, but they all suck. The fact that they suck is irrelevant. Her mods are too powerful, corrupt, and lack qualification, even though I've not once witnessed an act of mod abuse on her Renegade server, or her IRC channel, or on her forums.

Crimson wrote

If it isn't broke, don't fix it

For all your bitching, I hear nothing more but "CRIMSON SUX! N00BSTORIES SUX! BHS SUX! XWIS SUX! MAKE ME AND MY FRIENDS COMMUNITY LEADERS!".

Therefore, null, I submit that you, not Crimson, is the one who sucks.

Go away.

trooprm02 wrote on Mon, 26 June 2006 08:49Wow, I can't belive someone said clanwars.cc could provide better support than xwis or bhs.....

Although I admint there not the 2 most active organization as they could be, BHS has done wayyyyy more for this community than clanwars.cc can even dream about accomplishing.

P.S If you haven't noticed, even in the name they are geared towards only to clans. Theres more to ren than clans....

If you're going to reply to my posts, you could at least take the time to read them.

Nowhere did I say Clanwars.cc should run Renegade instead of BHS or XWIS. I also didn't say we've done more for the community in general. The only part we're interested in is its clan aspect, and this brings me to my point (which you completely misunderstood, so read it slowly and carefully this time):

Clanwars.cc is by far the most suitable party to run Renegade's CLAN LADDER. Not the primary WOL or what used to be WOL, not Renguard, not anything more than Renegade's clan ladder.

Get it now or are you still in your own alternate frame of logic?

Quote:I've seen Spoony make numerous topics about the league and almost all of them seem to have been ignored..

Quoted for truth, which if anything illustrates my point about how we seem to be the only ones who actually give enough of a damn to provide clan support to Renegade... you ask a question about the league to a Clanwars.cc admin, you usually get an answer the same day. Compare that to the nine months straight where clans have been ignored by everyone else other than Clanwars.cc. Proves my point better than I ever could.

Quote:Leagues in general are just lol to begin with, but leagues for a dead game that's extremely unbalanced, buggy, and not user-friendly is even more lol than that.

You were over the moon when we announced we also supported clan gaming for Red Alert: A Path Beyond... as for the top level of play, i.e. small clan games, the game is balanced (with the exception of maybe two maps which nobody even plays, for that exact reason) and the only noteworthy bug is bluescreening, which is no more problematic than it is in RA:APB.
