Yes, I think I could. Red and blue are different colors completely, and are easy to tell apart from a distance. It may take a second to register when a lot is happening, but I think I could tell the difference.

humm,1 is ugly and one is alot more ugly than the other one?Ok, I give you points for the effort, I know you can do better,I don't really like them,and the soviet engineer should be more red, blue and red makes no sence at all.I'm use to do skins but I have a little problem with my photoshop, they turn black, I've did what everyone told me to do but nah, nothing worked at all. =/ [December 28, 2002, 19:24: Message edited by: Aprime1]

Your n00bish Photoshoppery (and ultimate destruction) of original Renegade pics disgusts me. You're not one to speak, let alone judge other's work.

If you looked at the icon in the game they engineers are identical.They had both no patch yellow helmet.I think you should give them a better style, white is kind'a plain and boring, and a mod has to be original,the team don't have to follow every details of the game (in modeling and skining) or it be weird sometimes.I suggest the GI/Conscript style for both of em'.
But again, you can do what you want.
