Wait for it to complete the download/scan BEFORE clicking Renegade.

What anti-virus are you using? You could always try a different kind if it's giving you a lot of trouble. I know neither Norton nor Nod32 ever gave me any trouble with Renegade/RenGuard.

I use AntiVir. It's a freeware scanner and therefor not everybody would take a chance using it, but it's a very good AntiVirus program and has never failed me. I would recommend it to many people. Oh and it's won awards just like Ad-Aware SE antispyware and Zone Alarm firewall. All super products.

If your virus scanner is your problem with Renagurd, or thou think it is, try a new antivirus. You don't have to, like if you were very comfortable with what you have or are one of those scaredy cats afraid of change.

AntiVir try here: <http://www.free-av.com/>
