If you don't know, OCRemix is a website where users post their own remixes of video game music. Submissions are reviewed for quality and the good ones get posted on the site.

<http://www.ocremix.org/>

Currently there's over 1300 approved mixes with more coming in all the time.

I thought I'd link you to a few of my favorite remixes since the music is pretty sweet. Some of this stuff makes pretty damn good driving music.

To download the song from the description page, click "Download Mix" in the box at the right edge of the screen and choose a mirror.

Chrono Trigger

vgmusic.com is a good place to find video game music in general don't know about remixes or anything like that but I suppose it couldn't hurt to just throw it out there.

VGmusic is just midi files. Exact copies (as close as the midi format will allow) to the original. These remixes are great because they take the old songs and modernize/update them.
