it says that you arent allowed 9 usernames to a serial, but it doesnt mean you are allowed to register 9 usernames to the serial, it means you're only allowed to use 9 username.

take this for instance, my mate(known to you as help-linux) has been on my serial on a couple of his usernames, that's alright, but, when i tried recently to register a new username for my clan (BTK), i registered the name, and the motd came up telling me i have too many accounts. now, a couple of the accounts registered werent registered on this serial, as a couple were dan's.

to prove this more, using my copy of ra2, i registered a username on that to try in renegade, didnt work.

whats more annoying is, in my life, ive had 2 ra2 copies, and on the older serial i had for it, i registered the name futura83, this was weeks before i even had renegade, and that is one of the accounts listed as being on the renegade serial.

so...how can i get it so that i can use one of my later usernames online?

edit: here is a screen-shot btw, the ones circled in red are ones i registered in ra2, the ones circled in green are a couple dan has used.

i cant remember weather i registered any other of the listed, but that what i know of leaves 4 accounts not created with this serial.

and, now that i think of it, that paman one i have never even heard of...
