does anybody know of any god dedicated windows servers that have:

remote access, i can install things

php

fast enough to server 20-40 poeple on renegadeserver.

i was considering fasthosts as the php is not required, just prefered.

mostly when you order a dedicated server there isnt much installed, you would need to do that on your own.

i dont want a managed server as you only have a crappy controll panel, anyway i would want to install it all myself.

www.servermatrix.com

was much too expensive to most i can afford is £150 PA so i think i may using a linux box.

A root server isn't the same as a dedicated server, as you might have problems with the shared resources.

You're not going to get a server for 150 a year, around 150 a month would be normal.
