...or has renegade gotten more and more unstable with these new scripts and commands? It just crashes spontaneously for me and many other users.

Heh, well, if others are having the problem, you can rest easy knowing that it's not "just" you

Sometimes it still does for me too, also seems to happen more when I run renguard.

But it's weird, some days it doesn't happen at all (most days), then occasionally, it happens like 5-6 times in 1 day....

Yeah, most of the time I find it in my server but I don't run any "big" mods or anything... the biggest I have is..... an mIRC script to say "Do you remember your first time online?" when the line "noob" is said.

The latest scripts you should be using is 2.9.1. 2.9.2 calls a function/method (whatever) that was declared with a different name I believe.

I will work hard to fix any genuine crash in the scripts.dll/bhs.dll that I can fix. However, anything caused because people mixed different versions of scripts.dll and bhs.dll will not be fixed as that is something you should not be doing. (people that know what they are doing and actually merge/recompile code like some have done merging 2.9.2 and SSAOW 1.5 are different)

I've been doing some testing, and, with few exceptions, Renegade only seems to crash (a lot) in servers running BETA2...
(That includes yours, Merovingian)

Well thats probably because BETA2 is such a big map, and has so much stuff going on at once.

Yeah, that would make sense.
It won't stop me playing RP2 though, it's awesome!
