Hello all you modelers out there, if your like me you may have a variety of models out there that you would like to give to the community for mapping purposes. If so please upload them here or send them to me via, PM/Email/Messenger/Renhelp.net User Files. (These models may include maps, assets, characters, weapons, buildings, you name it.) Or even special files, like my proxies adaptation that spread like wildfire.

Quality isn't a problem, people of all skill can contribute. I only ask two things:

Please include 1 screen shot of the model in LE/W3d View or Renegade itself. Renders usually don't represent the model realistically.

Secondly a little text file "Renhelp.net Model Information.txt" to be sent along with it to help the user setup the model correctly. Here is one that I made for my pillbox's:

Quote:Model Author: Oblivion165
Model Uses: Anything you would like
Uploaded Date: 9/9/2006

Recommended Settings and Instructions:

- 1 Temp "Nod_Turret_MP_Improved" and remove "M00_Base_Defence" from its scripts.
- 2 Add script "Jfw_Base_Defence" and leave it as default settings.
- 3 Set player team to desired team.
- 4 Change weapon to "Weapon_GDI_Tower_MachineGun"
- 5 Make spawner, place on map!

That's it! Please contribute, if not ill just remove the section if it doesn't become useful. Also if you do upload the file via RenHelp.net User Files section, please inform me somehow so I can check your directory.

Edit by YSL: sticking.

Just FYI about those instructions, JFW_Base_Defence should be a 1:1 copy of M00_Base_Defence so removing M00_Base_Defence and putting JFW_Base_Defence on it seems redundant to me.

What if we want to send multiple files? I have a load of things that may be useful to some people. There's so many though that I couldn't possibly get a image and desription of each one. They range from gmax files, W3D files and textures that serve different purposes such as map terrain, props, buildings and vehicles. I'd rather upload everything as one whole package if that's OK. I'd obviously include a main description for everything.

The point of JFW_Base_Defence is firstly to serve as a test (copying existing scripts is a good way to verify all sorts of stuff), secondly to serve as an example (other people can look at it and learn how to do stuff) and thirdly as a base for the entire JFW_Base_Defence family (in that pretty much all the scripts in that family have code copy+paste from JFW_Base_Defence).

That's great, you can go ahead and just Rar/Zip the whole thing to me and ill break it up into categories. I would be perfectly willing to go through and screenshot everything, small price to pay for a collection.

As for description's, no need I would just include the information file on models that would need to be setup specially.

OK, I've RAR'ed everything up. I've split everything into three achives (map_files 42.2MB, model_files 10.0MB, textures 37.0MB). I've tried to make them as small as possible, I hope this won't be a problem. Do you want me to send this via e-mail? I use GMail which only allows 10MB attachments so I'll have to split them further.

Any way is ok, the best bet for you would probably the user files upload on renhelp, that way your not having to send 15 rars, but anywya is ok.

File size is no matter, unlimited space, unlimited bandwidth.
You guys took 12gb last month alone

My email is turok110@juno.com, but i think it only will allow 5mb attachments for incoming mail...i have the yahoo account listed in my sig but i dont know what its limits are...

Well let me know which you decide, and thanks alot!

I'll upload them through renhelp then. It'll beat sending by e-mail anyway. There isn't a file size restriction is there? Just checking as I hate it when you upload the whole file only for it to tell you it's too big. This is just from experiences else where. I will have to do it tomorrow though as it's late ATM and it'll take forever to upload.

Ok sorry about that, but you can now upload a combined file size of 100mb. The code wasnt limited, but the default php file size was. Should be all set now.

Well i have a ton of stuff which is either textured or untextured in terms of maps/models that were never completed.

I also have around 1000 textures which i have either made myself, or taken real images and turned them into seamless textures.

The real problem is the uploading. My gmax folder runs at a whopping 18.0 GB and has 16,227 files within. There is alot of copies and backups througout that in terms of gmax files.

Either way though , everything i have made for roleplay 2 is public, i can even throw up the gmax/textures if anyone wants to take some buildings/textures or whatever to create other maps from.

Here is 13 textures i made using Mayang.com's images.

<http://www.megaupload.com/?d=4NAPAWO1>

(preview of just one as it was for 2048 sqaure)

If anyone wants the 2048x2048 seamless set of these ill upload them also, i just know nobody would use over 1024 in ren lol.

Here is some random things i either never finished/gave up on/ just got bored of.

And ill try and get some of my other stuff uploaded as well in the meantime.

I have even included the map meshes and vis for Tobruk - hybrid_forest forgotton_town and dm_utah so you can see how truly bad at map making I was back then but it maybe helpful for the new guys my user name on renhelp is Halo38 (obviously)

I'll also be uploading everything that I have made that I never used in renegade - expect alot of different creative stuff. unfinished maps, buildings, objects etc.. i'm putting those packs together now no you didn't.

you imported it from renegade alert. i can tell because the shading problems are very obvious when you import a model from w3d.

i bet every single vertex is unwelded. furthermore you never said you made it, only that "i have a frag model"

Wow just when i thought people would never get so devious, we see 2 identical models of a grenade done by two seperate people yet both have physic abilities to come out with the exact same smoothing and polygon structure. I would hate to say it Theboom69, but if you cant supply evidence you made it, nobody will believe you. Why not show some of the early progress on it, an earlier save even? Show some of your other work, that can't be all you have ever made can it? Lol you got busted.

Aside from that The forklift owns, did it ever get textured? Some pretty good looking models you got there halo38. I like that castle on the mountain, has a nice overall effect. And what is that picture in the second set, at the top right? Is it a maze? looks very complicating.

I was talkin to a mod leader on MSN and apparently the Theboom69 has a reputation for taking other peoples work and claiming it is his. (don't shoot the messenger though) forklift? I guess you mean the bob cat (vehicles - bottom left) no I didn't get round to the texture but it is unwrapped and the download will include the .psd with the unwrapped co-ordinates image the model is boned and I had it working perfectly in-game on a test map yeah the top right is a maze also part of that RPG mod I mentioned there are many paths to rooms at the sides which I intended to have powerups, the room at the far wall would hold a enemy boss - bit of inspiration from Final Fantasy 7 temple of the ancients. you'll notice that there are some big steps these I planned to have a vine texture on and place ladder nodes so players could climb up them. there are also blockers round the whole maze so that players couldn't take short cuts

Edit: heres some bigger pics of the maze

Thats a damn nice interior map there halo, wish you would have textured it and attempted to get it ingame, would have looked dope.

Anyways, i figured i would upload some of my textures. These aren't sorted very well, but there is 450 textures total to choose from, and more being uploaded right now. Here is a sample of a few of the textures included in this rar.

Yea alot of those textures i created myself using images off of www.mayang.com. Some have been found over the net as well, so not all of them i made but a very good majority i did. Basically all the (RP) ones i did make. Here is one example of how i made a pebble texture.

I have another pack im uploading now with another 565 textures and ill edit to include link when its done.

And yea halo i wouldnt mind using something from that set although i am looking more for modern stuff just to match with the theme overall hence the bobcat. I am not sure about having an entire fantasy island cause ive already hit 160,000 polygons and if anything else were to go in it would probably be modern buildings, or a new island etc. I probably will push this map to 175k.

Here is the link for the other set, this includes alot of windows/buildings/doors/floors/walls/environment etc, but a majority of them are older or found from the net.

Anybody want to use this? It could use some attention and optimization...

I have uploaded my object and vehicle packs.

edit: buildings and unfinished maps coming soon

In these files you might often find a box 0.6 x 0.6 x 1.84 in size, I used this for scaling purposes as this is the rough dimensions of a soilder in renegade you can delete these when your ready.

you may have trouble opening the .max files, if so, import the .3ds version in 3dsmax or renx (file --> import)

If you export your model as a .3ds it can be imported in renx and most if not all versions of 3dsmax.

Hey Halo38 I have some friends that may be able to use that FF7 Temple in a project they have going. Its a very nice model and so are most of the things you have up on Renhelp.net

I gotta find some of my stuff that I have done. The Scorpion hunter tank is the only main one I can think of at the moment though. I will post an image when I find it.
