It's hard to make an estimate of when something is released, you could run into a lot of problems in the meanwhile. People will not like wrong estimates either, so if someone says "it will probably be done ..." and it will not be people will keep asking why and stuff. I think that's why a lot of developers (including myself usually) do not want to give an estimate. So: don't ask, only hope it will be done soon.

I only said that because nobody answered then an other question: who are in the SSAOW team?

WhiteDragon makes SSAOW from www.black-cell.net, it used to be vloktboky before he moved onto the dead6.
