Pretty interesting case mod - very nice looking temple of nod.

http://www.bit-tech.net/modding/2006/09/18/Temple_of_Nod/1.html

I don't have anywhere near the skill to do something like this, but damn I'd like to have something that cool as a computer.

Old, but still cool.

I am actually thinking about building my own case from scratch, but I don't have the time nor money.

This was posted awhile back, but never the less, it is pretty cool to see again.

Bit-Tech has some awesome case mods.

It'd be really nice if they found a way to make it black.

Very nice work though.

Black? Black lights? Or do you mean a light that actually projects a black color?

Not to throw this off-topic, but to add something to it...

I plan to make one of these CMoy pocket amps someday after I get my Grado headphones... they're a really good deal and a great project. They only cost $20 for all of the parts as long as you have the tools.

I mean the actual Temple of Nod structure. I think it would look nicer, but it's amazing right now.

That is very impressive and inspiring.

I'm tempted to make an outrageous case now!

(Ideas flood into my head as I type)

Edit: how much would you be willing to pay for a case like this????
